GRANGERS HAVE THEIR INNING

BRADFORD COUNTIANS PRESENT

Hon. George Moscrip of Towanda, Was One of the Speakers Before The Joint Committee of Representatives and Senators.

Pennsylvania farmers and members of the state grange organization had their inning before the legislative commission appointed to consider and report upon a revision of the corporation and revenue laws at a hearing in Williamsport Friday. Of the members of the commission, the following were present. Representative Gabriel H. Moyer of Palmyra, who acted as chairman in the absence of Senator James P. McNichol of Philadelphia; Senator William H. Keyser of Philadelphia; Representative F. Woodwrad of McKeesport; and Francis Shunk Brown, Esq., of Philadelphia, consul for the commission.

"Farmer" William T. Creasy, representative of the state legislature from Columbia, and who is master of the Pennsylvania state grange, headed the delegation who appeared before the commission. This delegation included members of the legislative committee of the state organization, and others whom this committee had selected to appear at the hearing.

Four representatives addressed the commission: Leonard Rhone of Center Hall; Hon. George Moscrip of Towanda; John A. McSparren of Furnace, Lancaster county; Judge Arthur W. Dennison of Ackley, Warren county. Other representatives of the state grange present were: Past Master W. Hill of Huntingdon; State Secretary J. T. Ahleman of Thompsontown; A. M. Cornell of Columbia X Roads; A. Nevin Deitrich of Chambersburg, editor of Pennsylvania Grange News.

The grange representatives argued against what they termed discrimination against real estate and farm owners by the present tax system of state. As remedies for the present conditions, they favored in their addresses a tax of one mill on manufacturers, a higher rate imposed on public utilities corporations, and the placing of these corporations under liability to a local taxation.

Judge Dennison of Warren county was a strong advocate of the last named proposition, that of allowing localities to tax corporations, and allow the county to retain more of the revenue derived from state tax laws.

Mr. McSparran attacked the system that extorts a higher rate of taxation from the man who invests his money in a home and real estate, than it requires from the man who places the same amount in corporate or personal bonds; the locality taxes the former man, and the state the latter.

Williamsport business men and manufacturers addressed the commission, presenting various interests in the hearing from which the commission is to present to the state legislature, either advocating a revision of the corporation and revenue laws, or expressing satisfaction in their present formation.

The Grangers Appeal.

There are 35 granges in Bradford county, with over 2,000 members and they will all be interested in the following appeal which was presented to the joint committee of representatives and senators of Pennsylvania who were appointed to inquire into the revenue laws of Pennsylvania:

To the Honorable Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania appointed to inquire into the Revenue Laws of Pennsylvania:

We, farmers and citizens of Pennsylvania, appointed a Committee by the Pennsylvania State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, authorized to address your honorable Committee, herewith set forth certain discriminations and hardships imposed upon real estate, farm, and home owners by the unequal and unjust tax laws of Pennsylvania which exact from real estate, appraised for taxation at $4,209,076,056 a tax of $77,568,406 annually, or an average of 18 mills on the dollar. While under authority of the same laws only $22,184,129 are collected from personal and corporate property which is appraised at $7,109,086, 575, or an average tax of only 3¼ mills on the dollar.

In addition to the foregoing discrimination against real estate, cited, the counties are required to pay direct to the state $9,539,311.00 (Report of Auditor General, page 2).

It may be contended by some that real estate is undervalued for taxation. So is personal and corporate property to a much larger extent as indicated by the statistical reports of the commonwealth.

This subject was fully investigated by the Pennsylvania Tax Conference a few years ago. A complete record was made from the books of the County Commissioners of the assessed value of real estate for taxation and what lands actually sold for in the market which clearly indicated that real estate was assessed for fully seventy-five per cent of its selling price in the several counties of the state, while personal and corporate property, according to the statistical reports of the state and taxes collected, are not assessed at more than fifty per cent. of their market value.

Take, as an example, the appraised market value of manufacturing plants in Pennsylvania which is stated at $1,126,406,543. Report of Secretary of Internal Affairs, 1908 (Part 3, page 301), while its estimated appraised value for taxation is only $155,088,250, and taxes paid $948,351 (Report Auditor General 1908, page 214); so that if there is only undervaluation of property for taxation it applies more forcibly to personal and corporate property than it does to real estate.

When the Legislature enacted laws changing the financial policy of the state, it exempted personal and corporate property from local taxation and made it taxable wholly for the support of the department of state and then in return made real estate taxable wholly for county, city and local governments.

When this policy was inaugurated by the state, the wisest statesmen did not forsee the enormous growth of the value of personal and corporate property, which now has reached the prodigious sum of over $7,109,086,575.

In the race of development, personal and corporate property has outstripped real estate by over $2,900,000,000.

During the same period the taxes on real estate have increased to $77,568,406, while on personal and corporate property, the taxes have fallen behind real estate more than $55,000,000.

We might cite numerous cases of how the discrimination affects the home owner, but we will give only a few illustrations of the situation.

Take two citizens of the commonwealth; one buys a home for $1,000 and is required to pay a tax from $20 to $30 for the support of schools, roads, poor, etc. The other invests his $1,000 in personal property bonds and mortgages and is taxed $4 for the support of the state and nothing for the home government, the benefit of which he enjoys equally with the other.

This unjust discrimination is authorized bythe laws of Pennsylvania, a republic that counsels its people, "To love mercy and do justice." We, therefore, appeal to your honorable Committee of our state government to carefully investigate this complaint of the farmers, home owners and tenants of Pennsylvania.

Respectfully submitted, Wm. T. Creasy, Leonard Rhone, W. F. Hill, S. S. Blyholder, A. M. Cornell, John A. McSparran, Thos. Sharpless, H. G. Teagarden.

A. P. Wieland is to retire from the active management of the department store of Reeser, Kessler, Wieland Co. at Sayre on May 1, according to an arrangement made on Tuesday and is to be succeeded by Judge J. He will sever his active connection with the company on May 1 and at that time Judge Reeser will assume control of the business. Mr. Wieland will continue as a member of the Board of directors.

Ulster to Have Another Paper.

The Waverly Free Press is authority for this: "A few weeks ago the Ulster Record, published for some time by Harry W. Post, suspended publication. Plans are now being discussed for the starting there of another paper, the plan as discussed being to purchase an outfit and start a paper under the direction of M. C. Twing, a printer of many years' experience and for some months in the employ of Mr. Post. The business men believe that with electric power as promised by the construction of the Towanda dam there is a bright future for Ulster and rightly estimate the value of a newspaper in booming a town." Mr. Post expects to resume publishing The Record in a couple of weeks.

STATE'S BULLETIN ON PREPARATION OF FOOD.

Department of Agriculture Issues Paper Valuable to Every Housewife

Secretary of Agriculture N. B. Critchfield has just issued a bulletin on "Principles of Domestic Science Applied to Preparation of Food." This is Bulletin No. 188 in the series of such free publications by the Department of Agriculture, and is one of the most valuable of the series.

Practically all previous bulletins have been designed for the farmer in general or for some special branch of husbandry, but the domestic-science bulletin is of value to every housewife. Its publication at this time is especially opportune because of the high cost of living and the efforts which must be put forth by the average housewife in order to make ends meet.

The bulletin was prepared by Miss Neale S. Knowles, an instructor in domestic science at the United States experiment station at Ames, Iowa, who was retained for this work by Secretary Critchfield.

The pamphlet is not large, but contains essential instructions in five classes of subjects of vital importance—value of each class of food to the body, best method of preparing food, food which is best adapted to each member of the family, wise combinations of foods and best manner of serving foods.

"It is the purpose of this bulletin," says Miss Knowles in her introduction, "to consider the direct application of domestic science principles to the best preparation of three simple meals each day. The aim is to present suggestion which are of practical value to any housekeeper, and which are, at the same time, based upon scientific investigation."

Miss Knowles proceeds to point out the different classes of foods with the nutritive value of each, and dwells especially upon the importance of the individual selecting and eating the food best adapted for his nourishment, because of his kind of work, his age and his general physical condition.

Receipes for preparing standard foods in appetizing ways are then given, all being of a simple character, with directions for choosing meats and fowls and preparing them. A chapter is devoted to breadmaking and another to simple deserts, while the pamphlet concludes with directions for canning and preserving and for serving meals.

Directions are also given for making a home-made fireless cooker, the directions being supplemented by an illustration. Other illustrations show the proper way of setting a table, give the compositions of the more common vegetables and show in just what part of a steer the various cuts of beef lie.

In a short preface to the bulletin, Secretary Critchfield notes the necessity for a brief but comprehensive bulletin of this character to place in the hands of the busy housewife. He says:

"Realizing the great importance of proper diet in building up strong and healthy bodies for the young, and the preservation of health and comfort for both young and old, and wishing to afford all the help possible in this line to the busy housekeepers of our land, I have secured the preparation of this bulletin by one whose training for the position of a teacher of domestic economy in one of the leading agricultural colleges of the country has furnished special qualifications for the work."

Discharged From Hospital.

F. L. Corcoran of Sayre, who has been very ill with typhoid fever for the past six weeks and under treatment in the Packer hospital was discharged from that Institution on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Corcoran cannot say enough in praise of the physicians and nurses of that Institution and the good care he received at their hands.

REMARKABLE CASE BEFORE MEDICAL MEN

Dr. T. Ben Johnson Describes Case of L. B. Rundell.

One of the most remarkable cases ever brought to the attention of a medical society was exhibited before the Bradford County society in regular monthly meeting in Towanda yesterday.

Dr. T. Ben Johnson brought before the medical men for examination L. B. Rundell of North Towanda, who is suffering with a pronounced case of osteosarcoma, or tumor, his right arm and shoulder being afflicted. The tumor has grown to great proportions, and its like has never been recorded in the annals of medicine and surgery. Dr. Johnson gave a history of the case after which it was discussed at considerable length.

The meeting of the Medical Society was unusually interesting, in addition to the discussion of the Rundell case. Dr. G. H. B. Terry of Wyalusing, read an interesting paper on the inflamatory condition of the skin, which was discussed by all members present. Dr. Raymond L. Wadhams of Wilkes-Barre, opened the discussion.

Another Acceptance to Challenge.

The Sable Baron Company, of Towanda, accepts the challenge of J. B. Gorsline and desires to stand Sable Baron, Jr., No. 52825 against Guy Dillon on breeding, pedigree, individuality and show, but as to racing it is not customary to make a mixed race of hobbled pacers and trotters and is unjust to race trotters against pacers. Sable Baron is a pure gaited trotter royally bred in stalwart lines though he has not been tracked he is a colt of extreme speed and indications are that he would make a record with that of his half brother Oakland Baron 2:09¼. It is understood that Mr. Gorsline and Mr. Maynard's horses are pacers.

Boy Drowned at Galeton.

A very sad accident occurred in Galeton Saturday afternoon, when Kenton Taylor was drowned in Pine Creek. The little boy had wandered down to the creek nearly opposite his home, with a playmate, and while playing there fell into the stream. The body was carried down the stream, and over the dam, where it lodged between two boards in the apron, about 300 feet from the point where the accident occurred.

Appointed Master.

Hon. E. M. Dunham of Sayre, has been appointed master to take evidence in the matter of the P. B. & E. railroad. The evidence to be taken is with the view of upsetting the decree of Sept. 4, 1908. It will probably be necessary for Mr. Dunham to go to Boston, Mass., to take the evidence for at that city is the headquarters of the firm of Holbrook, Cabot & Robbins, owners of the road.

Captain of Lehigh Police.

William Sullivan of Ithaca, Lehigh detective on the Auburn Division, has been promoted to the post of captain of police. Mr. Sullivan entered on his new duties Saturday and has charge of all the company's detectives on the Elmira & Cortland branch, the Auburn Division, and the main line from Sayre to Manchester. C. FRED WRIGHT STATE TREASURER

Former Congressman From This District Appointed Monday

Governor Stuart Monday announced the appointment of Charles Fred Wright, of Susquehanna county, to be state treasurer from the first Monday of May, 1910.

Charles F. Wright is a native of Forest Lake township, Susquehanna county, and is extensively interested in the lumber and banking business. He served in the Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh and Fifty eighth Congresses from this 14th district as a Republican and was a delegate to the St. Louis conventation in 1896 that nominated the late William McKinley for president. He has always been a prominent Republican and is in the regular column.

He was appointed by Governor Pennypacker a member of the commission charged with the erection of the hospital for the criminal insane at Fairview.

While the appointment makes Mr. Wright treasurer for one year, many believe that the appointment carries with it the implied understanding that the incumbent will be nominated at the forthcoming Republican convention in Harrisburg.

Mr. Wright is well known in Towanda and Bradford county where he has many friends.

APPOINTMENT OF WRIGHT CAUSES LEGAL TANGLE.

Treasurer Sheatz Says He Will Not Step Out—Proceedings Commenced

As was expected, the appointment of a state treasurer to perfect the duties which would have been performed by Jeremiah Stober, treasurer-elect, had he lived, the naming of Hon. C. F. Wright of Susquehanna county, by Governor Stuart, has started legal trouble at the State Capital which will be watched with interest all over the state.

Treasurer Sheatz has declared that he could not, under his oath of office, surrender to any successor except one "duly elected and qualified," and as Jeremiah A. Stober, of Lancaster, who was "duly elected" died and could not qualify, and therefore left no literal vacancy, to be filled by appointment, a nice question of constitutional law confronts the Administration in making the appointment of Mr. Wright or any one else: Hence Attorney General Todd, to test its legality, will institute in the State's highest Court quo warranto proceedings, practically to oust State Treasurer Sheatz.

Mr. Wright is appointed by Governor Stuart to serve three years, from the first Monday in May next, when Treasurer Sheatz's regular elective term will expire. The length of term of the new appointee will, therefore, be determined by the Supreme Court, if the "appointment to fill a vacancy" that does not literally exist is sustained.

The name of Mr. Wright had not been heard mentioned in the discussion of the candidates or aspirants for the place and was a surprise to Capitol Hill. The selection was a purely personal one with Governor Stuart. In 1906 Governor Stuart came into personal contact with Mr. Wright, who was a member of the Republican Advisory Campaign Committee, and at the meetings in Northeastern Pennsylvania Mr. Wright accompanied the Gubernatorial party. He has since been in Harrisburg a number of times.

HAIR RAISING EXPERIENCE OF TWO BOYS NEAR NEWBERRY

Train Bore Down Upon Them While They Were Crossing Bridge.

Fred and Harry Shriver, aged seven and nine respectively, had sensational escapes from death shortly before 7 o'clock Monday evening, when they were trapped by a south-bound passenger train on a bridge near Newberry.

Caught at the very center of the bridge the elder lad shouted to his brother to swing over the edge onto a tie. Losing his footing the younger lad fell across the rail. In attempting to break his fall he caught at the outer edge of the tie, holding tight. It required considerable agility to remove his body from the danger zone, with no time to stake. The other lad jumped five feet on a steel girder, supporting the frame work, the train flashing by in the interim leaving him unaware of the fate of his brother.

As soon as the train passed he climbed onto the bridge and pulled his brother back on the ties, just in the nick of time. The lad, his strength exhausted by the strain of supporting himself in mid air and the shock of his awful experience was almost ready to release his hold.

The passenger, in charge of Conductor D. R. Drake and Engineer William Stapleton was stopped and the railroaders hurried back to render what assistance they were able. The boys were on their way home.

PLAINTIFF AWARDED DAMAGES AGAINST DOCTOR

Arbitrators Decide Doran—Coyle Case in Favor of Former.

James Hurst, P. Fred Kerrick and B. F. Bingham, the arbitrators who heard the evidence in the case of Michael Doran versus Dr. A. L. Coyle in the Athens council chambers Tuesday afternoon and night, awarded the plaintiff $125 and assessed the costs of the suit upon the defendant.

The taking of evidence occupied all afternoon and an evening session lasting three hours was held to finish the testimony and listening to the arguments of the attorneys. Many witnesses were called and great interest was manifested in the litigation.

Dr. Coyle, an eye specialist, formerly had an office in Sayre and in January 1909, operated upon Mr. Doran for the removal of a cataract, agreeing to perform the operation and attend the patient for twenty-five dollars. Coyle operated, and Doran completely lost the sight of the eye. Coyle collected his fee a few days after the operation and left Sayre, saying that he would return in a few days and that the patient would be all right without surgical attention until his return. He never came back and the plaintiff alleged that it was through this neglect that his eye became so badly affected that all the subsequent medical aid he employed has not relieved him from the excruciating pain which he suffers constantly. It was brought out during the hearing that Coyle immediately after operating knew that the sight had been destroyed.

Doran instituted proceeding by having a capias in trespass issued and Coyle was put under bail in the sum of $1,000, which guarantees that the judgment and costs will be paid.

William Little, Esq., and William Maxwell, Esq., of Towanda, were the atotrneys for Coyle, while Hoyt & Schrier, and J. T. Corbin, Esq., represented Mr. Doran, the plaintiff.

Home From Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Rahm arrived home on Friday from Texas, where they spent three months. Mr. Rahm has a large ranch in Texas, and takes much pride in it, but he loves Towanda and old Bradford county best. "I am glad to see you back," said a Towandian to Mr. Rahm last evening "You are not near as glad to see me back as I am to get back," replied Mr. Rahm with great emphasis, adding "Towanda is certainly a great place to come home to; and there is no place like it."

New Lehigh Office in Wilkes-Barre.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad has opened a new ticket office at 36 Public Square, corner North Main street, Wilkes-Barre, where the District Passenger Agent will also have his office, and a travel information bureau will be maintained. It would be a good idea and an accommodation to the public if the Lehigh would open an information office in Towanda, at some point on Main street.

FRANKLIN EXPO IN FULL SWING

Large Crowd Present Opening Night---Pretty Booths

MECCA FOR PLEASURE SEEKERS

Handsome and Attractive Booths, Pretty Decorations, Fine Display of Merchandise, Etc.—Will Close Saturday Night.

The big expo and commercial fair in commemoration of the 56th anniversary of the organization of the Franklin Steam Fire Engine and hose company opened in Eagle hall Monday night, a large crowd of pleasure seekers being in attendance.

There have been many fairs held in Towanda during the past 56 years since the Franklins organized, but it is doubtful if a better arranged or more complete fair was ever given than the anniversary expo of the "old reliable" now on in Eagle hall.

Neither time nor expense has been spared in the arrangements, and everything shows the touch of master hands. The booths are elaborate, and complete in an artistic way, reflecting great credit upon the young ladies who arranged the decorations. There is nothing lacking in any way, and as usual, the Franklins have done themselves proud.

The Booths.

The booths are a little too elaborate and pretty to demand description. Just go to the hall and see for yourself, and then you will have a good idea what the young ladies have done.

The first booth as you enter the hall, looking to the left, is the post-office, where visitors at the expo can get their mail for a small charge. Then comes Hendelman, the jeweler's booth, in which he displays an elegant line of Thermos bottles, alcohol lamps, chafing dishes, etc., giving demonstrations with each. The next booth is occupied by F. S. Spencer, the Columbia phonograph agent, who exhibits machines and gives concerts.

The corner grocery comes next and here is a full line of flour, canned goods, groceries, etc. It will surely do you good to inspect the corner grocery.

Next to the grocery is "Micky" Gorman's famous locomotive which runs by electricity, and gives a musical selection every time the wheels revolve. This is one of the big attractions of the expo and should be seen, as it is truly a mechanical marvel.

To the right of the locomotive booth will be found a display of clothing by Minard & Dennis, the new Towanda clothing firm. Then comes the High School booth where pupils of the Towanda high school sell confectionery. B. Loewus has a large and fine display of goods from his big department store and then comes the fancy work booth. Next is a display of fabrics for men's suits which are carried by "The Hub" clothing store. These fabrics are sam-

For Lame Back

This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates—without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. JAMES C. LEE, of 1100 9th St., S.E., Washington, D.C., writes: "Thirty years ago I fell from a scaffold and seriously injured my back. I suffered terribly at times; from the small of my back all around my stomach was just as if I had been beaten with a club. I used every plaster I could get with no relief. Sloan's Liniment took the pain right out, and I can now do as much ladder work as any man in the shop, thanks to

Mr. J. P. EVANS, of Mt. Airy, Ga., says: "After being afflicted for three years with rheumatism, I used Sloan's Liniment, and was cured sound and well, and am glad to say I haven't been troubled with rheumatism since. LEHIGH VALLEY MAKES ANOTHER IMPORTANT CHANGE

Freight Transfer Yard to Be Moved From Wilkes-Barre to Coxton.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad and the Ontario & Western Railroad are to be connected near the Sibley colliery, back of Taylor. Freight will be run from one road to the other, the transfers being made at Coxton yard. A large amount of trafic will be transfered between the two railroads. The Ontario & Western carries large supplies of iron from New York State and the West to the great furnaces in the Eastern and Southern part of Pennsylvania, which are reached by the Lehigh Valley.

The transfer station of the Lehigh Valley, which has been located in the Wilkes-Barre yards will be transferred to Coxton. Between 35 and 40 men are employed in this classification system. These men will in most cases remove to Pittston.

The advantages of the connection of the Lehigh Valley and Ontario & Western freight traffic have been apparent to the department heads for some time. It has been necessary heretofore to employ the Delaware & Hudson between Wilkes-Barfre and Scranton. This method has disadvantages and was costly.

The Austin branch of the Lehigh Valley runs from Coxton five miles to the Sibley colliery, about a mile from Taylor. The Ontario & Western has a branch running to Keyser Valley. Between the Keyser Valley the distance is about five miles only. The terminals of the branches will be connected.

At the transfer station the freight is classified, all the consignments to a place being placed together so that the one or more cars can be left. The city business in the Wilkes-Barre yard has grown to such an extent that with the transfer system there too, the yard has been overtaxed. The system will, therefore be transfered to Coxton, where the facilities will be equal to requirements.—Sayre Times.

BRADFORD COUNTIANS ROPED IN BY CHICAGO FIRM.

Globe Association Denounced as Being Unworthy of Patronage.

The Globe Association of Chicago, a concern that nas advertised for agents, canvassers, advertising distributors, etc., through the local papers, has been denounced by the Rural New Yarker, one of the leading weekly publications of the country, as a fake, and unworthy of confidence or patronage.

A number of Bradford county people have had dealings with this concern, and not one of them has a good word for the association. Henry C. Spencer of Mountain Lake, answered an ad and accepted the proposition of the Globe Association. He started out to canvass, and at Sayre found a man who had been "stung" by the same concern This led Mr. Spencer to make an investigation, and he has learned of several in this county who have lost money by dealing with the Association.

Mr. Spencer wrote to the Rural New Yorker and received the following reply, which is self explanatory:

"Replying to your inquiry of March 23, it would take us a full day to tell you all the reasons we have for what we have said about the Globe Association, but propably the enclosed clipping from the Rural New Yorker will be sufficient."

Here is what the clipping says: "Our opinion of it is that it is the most persistent fake we have yet encountered. The employment they offer you is the privilege and the equipment to fake your neighbors after they have first faked you. They first insist that you send them a remittance of $12.50 as evidence of your good faith which they promise to return to you if you live up to your agreement with them. But they furnish the agreement which it is practically impossible for you to live up to in every particular, and when you do not do so, they refuse to refund the $12.50. Then they promise to send you goods out of the sale of which you are to pay your expenses. The goods prove to be certificates of membership which you are to sell to your neighbors at $5 or some other amount each, and part of this faked money must be sent to them. They never send 100 pounds of sugar for $1.75, as they so persistently advertise,. They make up a bill of cheap groceries and make you pay enough for the others to make up for the sugar. Most of the other things you do not want, and one purchaser reported that the sugar was two-thirds dirty, broken rice. When you begin to see the trickery and refuse to continue the faking process against your neighbors, they tell you that you have broken your contract, and refuse to return your deposit. In one instance, however, they returned it, after first refusing to do so, when the "Publisher's Desk" gave them an intimation of what they might expect if they continued to keep the money."

Lackawanna Abandons Cut-Off.

The reports from Scranton are that the Lackawanna has abandoned the project of building a cut-off on its line from Nicholson, through Susquehanna and Bradford counties to Nichols. For the past year surveyors hav been at work trying to find a feasible route to build this cut-off which would shorten the Lackawanna line over 30 miles, and the hopes of the people of that section of the country though which the new road would pass have run high. It is now said that the project has been abandoned because no route could be found by which the construction would not be too costly for the advantages to be gained. Some very long and expensive fills would have to be made and two tunnels bored. It is now planned to expend considerable sum on the present line between New Milford and Nicholson, in reducing some of the heavy grades and straightening curves.

Bazzett & Wood's New Location.

Bazzett & Wood, the well known blacksmithing firm, have moved from Washington street to the shop on Bridge street formerly occupied by G. R. Doane, which they recently purchased. The shop is being remodeled and enlarged and when the work is completed it will be one of the most up to date carriage and repair shops in Bradford county. O. J. King, the woodworker and painter, who has been with Bazzett & Wood for a long time, will move his shop to their new location, and thus the long established business will remain intact.

Have Positions in Wyalusing.

Says last week's Wyalusing Rocket: "Messrs. Paul D. Snyder of Spring Hill, and F. E. Dixon of Rome, have taken the position in Smith & Waldo's store in this place made vacant by the resignation of O. F. Brown and C. T. Stalford, who have gone into business for themselves. Both of these young men, while as yet they are new to the business, have the qualifications which make the successful men of the yardstick and the scales."

LeRaysville Fire Company.

The citizens of LeRaysville have organized a fire company, and will prepare to protect the property of that thriving village. The borough council have given assurance of co-operation in the matter, and will without doubt give the financial aid. The plan now talked of is to have a hook and ladder company, with a suitable wagon to convey the ladders to the fire. The hose cart is to be stored in a building adjoining the council room. The officers chosen were: H. Ward Beecher, chief; F. L. Dimock, assistant; W. H. Warner, foreman of hose cart; A. W. Bloomfield, foreman of hook and ladders; P. H. Beecher, secretary and treasurer.

HE IS AN OCTOGENARIAN.

J. Morgan Brown of Wyalusing, Eighty Years Old Last Saturday.

Says this week's Laceyville Messenger: "On Saturday last, April 2, J. Morgan Brown, proprietor of the Wyalusing Hotel, reached his eightieth milestone, the event being quietly celebrated by his immediate family, Mrs. Brown arranging for an extra dinner that day, having the usual bill of fare supplemented with a few side-dishes, of those viands of which Mr. Brown is particularly fond. He received not only personal, but written congratulations, there being a recognition of the return of the day, by friends living even in distant places, as well as by those in his home town.

"Mr. Brown comes of pioneer stock, his great-grandfather being in the fort at the time of the Wyoming massacre and though he escaped, two of his sons were slain in that sanguinary struggle. He a little later settled in Browntown, where J. Morgan was born and in the immediate vicinity of which he has passed his whole life. He became connected with the Wyalusing Hotel nearly 50 years ago, the original structure having been so changed and modernized under his direction as to be now hardly recognizable.

"Though Mr. Brown is a popular landlord, yet he is a born architect as is evidenced by not only the fancy furnishings and fittings of the hotel, but by the public and other buildings, erected by him in the village. He is distinctly fond of relics, and to harbor his large collection of curios and rare specimens, he has affixed to the side walls of the gentlemen's sitting room, a series of glass-door cases. There are few private collections found anywhere, that equal that of Mr. Brown. He is now engaged in collecting rare clocks, and although this is a new feature, he has within a short time, picked up nearly a score.

"Barring an occasional attack of rheumatism, Mr. Brown is well, his intellect clear, and his fund of local and other stories kept intact. He has a fondness of music, and can today rosin the bow of his old violin, and produce the inimitable strains of Old Black Joe or other favorite melodies, as of yore."

WELLSBORO-MANSFIELD TROLLEY PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Expected That There Will Be Something Doing in a Few Weeks.

"A correspondent writing from Wellsboro says: "A meeting of the directors of the Tioga Traction Company was held in Wellsboro Tuesday morning and action taken on the sale of stock. All but two of the board were present and from present indications there will be something doing within a few weeks. The right of way and all preliminary matters have been practically cleaned up and with a little assistance in the sale of a portion of the stock from the people of Wellsboro, Mansfield and intermediate points the building of this road is an assured thing.

"It is up to all the people of the county to boost this enterprise, say the promoters, as it will be only the beginning of a trolley system that will open a connection line of railroads with the Cowanesque and Tioga Valleys and the county seat."

Snow Squall Thursday.

Let it be remembered that Thursday, April 7, a November snow squall visited this section, the flakes being large and plentiful. This all came after several days of regular Summer weather, the thermometer registering 84 in the shade some days. The snow fell on budding trees, blossoming plants, and plowed fields and gardens.

PAUL E. MAYNARD ACCEPTS J. B. GORSLINE'S CHALLENGE.

Will Match His Stallion Against Guy Dillon For Speed, Etc.

It is a slow day in Bradford county when some kind of a contest cannot be arranged, or stirred up at least. In Monday's Review J. B. Gorsline of Wysox, challenged any person in Bradford county to bring forth a better stallion, as to breeding, pedigree and speed than Guy Dillon.

Paul E. Maynard, Esq., of Athens, a prominent horseman, after reading the challenge in The Review took the first train for Towanda, and upon arriving here accepted the challenge issued by Mr. Gorsline.

Mr. Maynard desires to stand his stallion against Guy Dillon for breeding, pedigree and individuality, to be judged by three or five men, now or at any time within a few months. As to speed, Mr. Maynard will pit his stallion aginst Guy Dillon for $250 or $500 a side, race to be held at the East Towanda fair or at the Inter-State fair at Athens, which ever association offers the largest purse. Any condition agreeable to Mr. Gorsline will be satisfactory to Mr. Maynard.

Furthermore, Mr. Maynard will allow any other stallion in the county to complete in the contest for speed, or in the judging under the same conditions which govern the contest between he and Mr. Gorsline, should one be arranged.

Here is an excellent opportunity for stallion owners to compare their horses with two of the best in the state.

Criminologists Will Visit Reformatory

Elmira Reformatory will be visited in September by the most prominent body of criminologists ever to visit an American city. The party will consist of the representatives of 40 nations who are to gather in Washington at the end of a 2,000 mile trip through the East and Middle West. Each of the 40 nations will send the foremost of its students of the cause and punishment of crime. Elmira Reformatory is one of the few famous institutions to be visited. It is the first of the list of prominent institutions. George Junior Republic in Freeville, one of the most unique correctional institutions in the world, also will be visited by the party after leaving Elmira, while en route to Auburn State Prison.

New Official Makes Raid.

Assistant District Attorney William H. Gillespie of Luzerne County who was recently appointed, and who until last Monday was Mayor of Pittston, walked into a gambling den on Main street, Pittston, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. He found some thirty men playing, took their names and ordered two alleged proprietors to appear at the district attorney's office here tomorrow morning. He intends to put an end to gambling in Pittston.

James Lewis Injured.

James Lewis, the Bridge street plumber, fell and was severly injured on Saturday afternoon while working in the Bailey meat market on Bridge street. Mr. Lewis was standing on a ladder which slipped from under him and in the fall he bruised his face and cut his left hand slightly. The bruises proved to be very painful but will not keep him from attending to his work.

South Ghent School Closed.

South Ghent school closed Thursday. It is the wish of many of the patrons to have Miss Rose Horton return and teach the school another year as she has taught a very successful term. The children have all advanced very nicely in their studies. There are six pupils that have been neither absent nor tardy, among them being Ambrose Bustin, only six years of age.

PROHIBITIONISTS GO IT ALONE.

Prohibition State Chairman Burton L. Rockwood announces that this year the Prohibitionists will not co-operate with the Local Optionists, but in every legislative and senatorial district will nominate and support out and out Prohibitionists in opposition to the choice of the Local Optionists. The Prohibitionists take this stand, they say, because they believe it is a sin to compromise in any way with the liquor traffic. It is easy to admire, says the Tunkhannock Republican and New Age, the lofty aim of the Prohibitionists, but not so easy to be captivated by their judgment. We endorse this opinion. The Prohibitionists will make small progress by refusing to co-operate with their natural allies—the Local Optionists. In union, not in disunion, there is strength. The Prohibitionist vote in Bradford county is the index of the Prohibitionist sentiment, and it must be confessed it is not large. Their strength in the county does not seem to grow. In the last legislative contest, in 1908, they polled less than 400 votes. Their vote for president at the same election was 651. For many years the Prohibitionist vote has been in the neighborhood of the above figures. With this strength how long will it be before they can send a man to the legislature?

Seeing so much in the newspapers about the split-log drag makes one think of the roads, and thinking of the roads makes one think of the Grangers, and thinking of the Grangers makes one think of what the State Grange did and said at its annual meeting a few months ago, namely—passed a resolution declaring that in the coming legislative campaign the Grangers would oppose every candidate for the legislature who would not pledge himself to vote to abolish the state highway department. Wonder if the Grangers are as much opposed to the state highway department now as they were then, and if they will carry out their threat.

Congressman C. C. Pratt's private secretary, Henry P. DuBois, was in Montrose Monday circulating a petition for the re-nomination of the popular congressman at the June primaries. He had no difficulty in getting signers, and there were some Democrats who expressed a wish that the party affiliations did not prevent them from endorsing the genial colonel. Our congressman has made a good showing at Washington for a first-term man and with his experience standing him in good stead, his constituents believe that he will exhibit considerably more strength in a second term. While the colonel modestly disclaims any great amount of credit for the fruition of his labors, yet he has been a diligent and painstaking official.—Montrose Republican.

The income tax amendment to the constitution does not make rapid progress, to the surprise of many. The legislatures do not seem anxious to make those who have good sized incomes pay taxes on them as it was supposed they would. Thirteen state legislatures have been in session and had the opportunity to ratify it, and seven of them have approved it. These are Alabama, South Carolina, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Maryland. Virginia turned it down. The legislatures of the other states have side-stepped it thus far, and some of them by adjournment have practically disapproved of it.

According to the Athens Gazette the Hon. Robert S. Edmiston of Milan, is making a canvass for the Republican nomination for Congress. Mr. Edmiston served this Senatorial district for two terms, but that is no ground for sending him to Congress. We are willing to concede to Mr. Edmiston all the credit that belongs to him, but that he could and would represent the interests of this district at the national capital more intelligent and more faithfully than Col. C. C. Pratt is doing we are more than doubtful.—Tunkhannock Republican.

Over in the Lycoming-Columbia senatorial district "Farmer" Creasy announced several weeks ago that he would be a candidate for state senator. Now Hon. Andrew L. Fritz of Bloomsburg, has concluded to be a candidate, and the situation is still more interesting. Mr. Fritz was a member of the legislature for eight years, and was the caucus nominee of the Democrats for speaker of the house. If we remember right the Democrats frequently elect a senator in that district.

Congressman Foelker has introduced a bill providing for the free admission of cattle for one year as an experiment to determine what would be the effect on the cost of meat. We think it would be a good experiment to try, but the objection to bringing the bill up would be that it would open up a general fight on the tariff schedules of the new law. And every business man knows that is just what we don't want.

The Democratic state committee decided last week to hold the state convention on June 15. C. LaRue Munson of Williamsport, said he was not a candidate for governor, but that he would run if nominated.

HIGHWAYS AND FOOD PRICES.

Good roads are prescribed for the reduction of the cost of living by a New York correspondent in the Herald. The prescription, though not new, is good.

Where roads are good the distant farm is brought nearer to markets, the expense of hauling is decreased, thereby reducing the cost of production and helping equally the producer and the consumer.

The writer says: "A single feature of human nature—that nature which never changes—is the cause of the present high price of all foodstuffs.

Men will get out of any segregation or isolation, whether it be in state's prison or on a farm. Beyond the city life is exceedingly attractive where there is communication; hence, the enormous suburban movement—but the suburbs dont' raise crops.

Connect the farms with each other and with the cities by the motor road, so that their occupants can meet each other all the year round, and you will restore the normal development and reduce foodstuffs to their natural prices, besides commencing to raise crops on half a billion acres in the United States which are now inaccessible.

And we might add that the farmers can do a lot toward improving the roads in the neighborhood of their farms by the intelligent and persistent use of a split log drag.

THE FARMER IS "IT."

"The man who has a farm anywhere within a reasonable distance of a good market, and has it paid for should hang on to it. It is valuable, and will be more valuable. Town folks can get along with fewer clothes, and less expensive ones. They can cut out spirituous liquors and tobacco, if they have to. They can live very well without going to the seashore in August. At least half the time they call the doctor there is no need of it, and going to law is an expensive and foolish piece of business if you win. There is just one way in which they can not economize very much, and that is on the things to eat. Corn beef and cabbage, pork and beans, lamb and green peas, and chicken pot pie will continue to be necessaries of life as long as we are blessed with good stomachs and digestion, and there is just one man who can produce all these things. He is the chap the funny papers picture as wearing a straw hat, chin whiskers, cow hide boots and a rake over his shoulder. As a matter of, facts he usually drives a rubber tired buggy with a horse attached worth anywhere from $150 to $500. He wears store clothes of pretty good cut and material, uses pretty fair grammar, understands politics and is fairly well up on current events. He carries a wad of twenty dollar bills in his pocket and his boys are the preachers, lawyers, doctors and successful merchants of the towns and cities, while his girls go to boarding school and marry pretty much any one they want to. He holds the nation's food supply in his hands, and the prices are going up. Therefore, we say to the farmer, hold on to your farm. Its market value is increasing."

As the cold period of April is apparently now passing away it may be hoped that the crop season will open favorably in the principal agricultural sections of the country. Although the present Spring has been marked by deficiency of rainfall in some extensive and important districts conditions are becoming more promising for relief from drought over the great central valleys. The strong and widespread disturbance which moved last week from the Middle West to New England caused general rains over the Northern districts from the Mississippi Valley eastward to the Atlantic states. Another disturbance, now forming in the trans-Mississippi region promises to develop and advance east-northeast, accompanied by showers in the Mississippi Valley and other portions of the wheat belt. As Western termperatures are rather above the normal the rainfall of this depression will be opportune and beneficial. Altogether the outlook for the crop season is improving considerably.

The census bureau in a report on the work of fire departments and the fire losses of the 158 largest cities in this country, finds that the average cost of fire protection per capita is $1.65 a year. In Berlin it costs only 26 cents a year; in London 19 cents and in Milan 17 cents. Towanda is not mentioned, but it is safe to say that fire protection here is lower than any town or city, all through the efficiency of the Towanda volunteer department.

The miners in the bituminous coal mines of central Pennsylvania, who had decided to strike, all went back to work again pending negotiations for an increase of wages, with the understanding that if any increase in wages is made it shall date from April 1st. The miners reasoned that it would paralyze business if they quit work and orders might go elsewhere that ought to come to them. This is one of the most sensible arrangements between employers and wage earners that we have ever heard of.

The appointment of Hon. C. F. Wright to be state treasurer, is pleasing news to that gentleman's many friends in the fourteenth congressional district of which Bradford county is part. Of course Treasurer Sheatz has given eminent satisfaction to the majority of the people of the state, and his administration can only be commended, but as long as an appointment was necessary, owing to the death of Jeremiah Stober, the treasurer-elect, the people of this section could ask for no one more worthy or fit that the Hon. C. Fred Wright.

State Senator William C. Sproul of Chester county is still being boomed for the gubernatorial nomination, the friends of good roads being especially active in furthering his interests. State Treasurer John O. Sheatz is also in the contest, and has secured the endorsement of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.

If there were no birds man could not live on the earth, and the birds are decreasing in this country.—Our Dumb Animals.

PLANT NUT TREES.

The food value of nuts is well understood. Why not plant nut trees while you are observing the Governor's proclamation for arbor-days? In our reckless assault on the forests the nut trees have not been spared. The black walnut, for instance, once a common tree in the eastern and middle states, is now almost exterminated. It is so scarce that as timber it commands a price as high as mahogany. Hundreds of thousands of cords of black walnut were used as firewood in Revolutionary days, but it is not now a thing to remember with pride.

In the southern part of this state a few years ago a man sold an old log house built of black walnut for $1.500. The purchaser no doubt made a fine profit when he cut up those logs into veneers. It was the pioneer home of the grandfather of the present owner of the place. When sold it was being used as a hoghouse, and the farmer was astonished at the price offered for it.

The chestnut, butternut, walnut, hickory and other nut trees have now a commercial value for what they bear as well as for their timber. A Lancaster county man has made a fortune from his chestnut grove, planted but a few years ago. Our native nuts now all have a staple market value. The demand for them is never supplied, so we import over $7,000,000 worth of foreign nuts every year.

For shade trees most of the nut-bearing trees are not to be surpassed. So there is the double incentive to plant them. A Wellsboro business man, who planted a black walnut in the sod of his dooryard, lived to see it sprout, grow into a handsome tree and yield bushels of nuts for the enjoyment of himself and family, all within 25 years. That tree is still growing into money value.

The nut crop of California is becoming one of its great assets. Attention should be given to growing the native nuts here, if not for commercial profit, for the enjoyment of those who come after us. With your tree planting this Spring be sure to put out some nut trees.

MEN ARE EATING HAY.

Six families out of every ten in Nebraska are eating hay in the shape of bread, biscuits, pancakes and pastries. Time was, and it was not so many years ago, when a stock joke in the West ran something like this: "You can do this or that but you can't eat hay." The joke has turned and today the vast majorities of families in the West are eating alfalfa, until recently considered food for cattle, horses and hogs. They are going even further and taking a powder made from the blossoms of the plant as medicine for insomnia, indigestion and stomach troubles.

So far as being nutritious, the alfalfa product has the wheat and corn badly beaten, and experiments show that a man who eats alfalfa products and work longer and harder, experiencing less fatigue than a man who makes a meal out of meat. Then, too, it is a medicine in a way, as it acts upon the nerves, and Omaha doctors have commenced prescribing it as a remedy for insomnia.

Five of the sweetest words in the English language begin with the letter H, which is only a breath. The words are heart, hope, home happiness and heaven. Heart is a home-place and home is a heart-place. Hope is that virtue which makes us look forward to our only real home—which is beyond the grave. Happiness is found in doing one's duty each day, and by safely guarding our senses against evil and having the best thing on earth, a clear conscience. Heaven is the goal to which we are tending, and only by a good heart, the blessings of a good home, lit up by the hope of the future reward, and doing all in our power to live up to the teachings of the holy faith, shall we reach that only real happiness in heaven. Young readers, link these five words together, always strive to practice what they teach, and life will be full of flowers and blossoms instead of weeds and thorns.—National Hibernian.

And now Davy Jones' locker is being searched for a substitute for beef, and "the porpoise that rolled, and bared their backs of gold," are said to be a good substitute for beef. They are mammals and may be eaten with relish by people who would not touch halibut or herring. In Boston they are advertising sirloin from this fish whose meat is red and does not taste very fishy. They do not have soup bones but they have flippers from which a soup is made known as "Potage fin de siecle." The bones are good for buttons and the meat may be converted into frankfurters that need no muzzles. Porpoises are caught in nets off the Carolina coast and are then slaughtered like other animals. Sailors regard the flesh as superior to salt horse and the Department of Agriculture do not object to selling sea cow providing it is rightly labeled.

The wedding of Marjorie Gould and Anthony Drexel will be one of the big society events of the near future. Each has a fortune of $30,000,000. Now if Miss Gould had only selected some honest young fireman capable of one day managing a railroad and Drexel had concluded to marry a mill girl with knowledge of the struggles of the poor, what a lot of good could have been accomplished with the $60,000,000, says the Scranton Tribune-Republican.

Congressman Pratt was home for a few days last week. Being a young member in point of time of holding office Charles has nothing to say, for publication, but we shall hear from him in the next congress, to which he will certainly be elected.—New Milford Advertiser.

Congressman Henry W. Palmer of the Luzerne county district has withdrawn his name and will not be a candidate for re-nomination. He has made a distinguished record in congress. He declined to run again because of the condition of his health.

A DOZEN FAMILIES CURED OF ITCH BY CUTICURA

Showed No Marks but Whole Body Itched Like a Million Mosquito-Bites—Sleep Out of the Question and Life Became an Inferno.

DOCTORS AND DRUGGIST TREATED THEM IN VAIN

"The Cuticura Remedies are the best in the world, as I know from experience. In Dowlais, South Wales, about fifteen years ago, families were stricken wholesale by a disease known as the itch. Believe me, it is the most terrible disease of its kind that I know of, as it itches all through your body and makes your life an inferno. Sleep is out of the question and you feel as if a million mosquitos were attacking you at the same time. Yet you could see nothing on the skin. But the itch was there all right and I sincerely trust that I shall never get it. I knew a dozen families that were so affected. The male members and myself belonged to the same society and, as steward, it was my duty to visit the sick members once a week for sick benefit until they were declared off. That is how I became so familiar with the itch.

"The doctors did their best but their remedies were of no avail whatever. Then the families tried a druggist who was noted far and wide for his remarkable cures. People came to him from all parts of the country for treatment but his medicine made matters still worse, as a last resort they were advised by a friend to use the Cuticura Remedies. I am glad to tell you that after a few days' treatment with Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, the effect was wonderful and the result was a perfect cure in all cases.

"I may add that my three brothers, three sisters, myself and all our families have been users of the Cuticura Remedies for fifteen or twenty years. Thomas Hugh, 1650 West Huron St., Chicago, Ill., June 28, 1909."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.) DIRECTIONS FOR HOOKING THE TOOTHSOME TROUT.

Here Are the Tips From an Expert, or Something Like That.

Stories are being swapped these days where fly casters get together, and these help to make the time hurry along until Friday, the fifteenth, when the trout season opens. To the man who does not know the joys of trout fishing these mean nothing, but to the man who has had the experience and has known the joy of landing a two or three pounder they are usually interesting.

Do you use flies or bait in the early season? This is a question which the novice fires at the old timer. The answer generally is, use what they will take. Good advice is this. Then too, it might be supplemented with this: If you don't know how to cast a fly don't expect to land any trout that way. Get busy and learn. Empty basket will be the rule while you are learning, but after you have good catches and greater sport will be your reward. There is no objection to the use of flies in the early season. The writer has caught trout, good sized ones, and many of them on flies when the air was so cold that fingers became too numb to bait a hook. It isn't a bad stunt in the early season to let the flies go well under water. Don't try to keep flies dry.

It isn't so much a question of what bait is good for certain times of the season. The experienced fisherman will be prepared with several kinds of enticements and use the one that does the execution, whether it be the fly, worm, grub or spoon. There is more ways than one to skin a cat and also catch a trout.

Just bait your hook nicely, and then wait for a bite. No bite, then change and use a fly, and so on. If you are successful and land a large catch by following this advice from an expert, or something like that, please bring a nice mess to this office, that there may be no misunderstanding.

The most elaborate and expensive booth is that occupied by the Towanda Electric Illuminating company. This i a mass of electric lights, and here is exhibited every kind of an electrical article which is used about the house, including electric toaster, baker, frying pan, sad iron, gas stoves of all kinds, and electric motors attached to washing machines and also to sewing machines. These are all in operation and demonstrations are giving in cooking by gas and electricity, which is very interesting. This is one of the most unique and interesting exhibits ever made in this section at any kind of a fair, agricultural or otherwise, and alone is worth the price of admission.

And the expo is not without live stock, as P. Gus Lewis has an exhibit of the famous Airedale puppies, one of which he has given to the Franklins to be chanced off.

In the Northeast corner of the hall is an ice cream and refreshment booth which is sufficiently supplied to quelch the thirst and satisfy the longing for sweets. While the trout season does not open until Friday, there is plenty of good fishing at the expo, as a large and well stocked fish pond is one of the attractions and is getting many of the nimrods and nimrodesses.

Near the main entrance on the right will be found the Dye & Bresee Hardware company booth, which is well arranged and affords a fine display of ranges and light hardware. In the centre of the hall is the flower booth, where personal decorations may be secured at a nominal price.

The stage is used for the display of goods which could not be placed on the main floor. This is screened from the main hall by a lattic work of creepe paper, prettily arranged, with the Franklin banner hanging in the middle, and "1854" on one end and "1910" on the other, signifying the age of the Franklin company. Behind this screen the orchestra are stationed while furnishing music for dancing.

By the foregoing it will be noticed that several of the business firms have exhibits which make the fair an expo in the fullest sense of the word. This is something new in Towanda, as heretofore there have been no displays other than of goods donated to the organization conducting the fair.

W. C. T. U. CONTESTS.

Medals Will Be Given Best Speakers. Dates of Contests.

The medal contest department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is one of the strongest of the educational departments of the great organization. This work originated in the brain of W. J. Demorest a wealthy temperance agitator. He believed that great temperance truths could be presented by young people, they learning good temperance recitations, and reciting them from the public platform, the winner receiving a medal for the best delivery this to be decided by competent judges. Thousands of medals are given to those entering these contests every year.

Ten of these contests have been held in the vicinity of Sayre, and Athens during the past few months. Another class is ready and will recite in the Methodist Episcopal church in Milan on the evening of April 22.

Mrs. Norrish, who has had the contests in charge, leaves the 9th of May for her trip abroad, and she is desirous of giving the young people the best possible chance to try for a medal. A gold medal contest will be held in the M. E. Church at Athens on Friday evening, the 15th, and on the evening of April 21st the matron's contest will be held at Willawanna.

JUDGE ORMEROD PASSES OPINION ON WESTERN FARMS.

Says They Are No Better Than Northern Pennsylvania Places.

A correspondent writing to the Philadelphia North American from Potter county, has the following to say which will be of interest to the farmers of Bradford county, and all Northern Pennsylvania:

"Judge Ormerod, of Potter county, has just returned to Coudersport after several months' traveling in the West. He is quoted as saying that the home of the Potter county farmer averges better than the farmer west of Chicago, and he does not think the "wild and wolly" the Mecca that it is cracked up to be. It is quite likely that this opinion handed down by the learned court is correct. There is probably no place, or at least few places, where better returns can be made by tilling the soil than right here in the old North Tier. The far away places like Oklahoma, Washington, Oregon and California are extensively boomed with printer's ink, while this section is not. There are few sections, perhaps, that are more favored than this, but they are not all they are pictured. It is quite likely that the places where the crops grow so fast and where you must climb over the fence after sowing and hike it for the house so you won't get run over by the golden harvest running to the barn are mostly occupied, or else in the hands of the "Morganheimers" or some other trust. They may even exist only on paper. It takes work and it takes brains to farm anywhere, and if your farm is not producing a living and more, it is your fault.

"An up-to-date farmer takes a sample of soil from every field on his farm and sends it away for an analysis. The chemist will tell him what crops it will raise best in its present condition, and how to treat it to raise other crops and if the farmer follows these instructions with common sense and a liberal application of elbow grease he will make farming the best paying investment on the money in the country. Every climate has its advantages and disvantages. The law of compensation works everywhere. A man who owns a good farm in the East is unwise if he pulls stakes and locates elsewhere. About the first lesson to learn is that you can't rob a farm year after year if you wish it to produce. Nature is rich, nature is lavish, but she is not inexhaustible. North Tier farms have been improvished by raising hay and oats and selling them. Good farmers sell little, if any, hay. They feed it to stock, put the fertillizer back on the farm, bring up the soil standard and sell the stock. Take the farms in the vicinity of Wellsboro, for instance, where the largest condensery in the country is located. They are steadily advancing in productiveness and price, and in twenty years there won't be an intelligent farmer within reach of this big industry that won't be rich. The time is not far distant when farm lands will double in price. Cultivate your farm along scientific, intelligent and business-like lines and you will have Oklahoma, Mexico, Texas and other states agriculturally backed into a siding."

EARLY SPRING STOPS SPRAYING OF TREES

State Orchard Demonstrations Will Soon Be Called Off.

The State's spraying demonstrations which have been conducted with marked success this Spring in every county of the State, will probably end before very long, owing to the advanced state of foliage, especially in orchards. The spraying with the lime sulphur mixture is dangerous after the buds open, but spraying with bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead may be carried on.

The State work this year has been on a more extended scale than ever and the results of the lectures on eradication of pests and pruning have brought about much good. It is the belief of attaches of the State Division of Economic Zoology that as a result of the demonstrations given last week thousands of dollars' worth of fruit trees will be saved.

INCENDIARIES SET THREE FIRES IN SINGLE NIGHT.

Knoxville, Tioga County, Experiences Reign of Terror.

Incendiaries set three fires in the heart of the town of Knoxville, Tioga county, Tuesday night, the last one at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, and the one doing the greatest amount of damage. It is reported today that the authorities are on track of several suspects, and that arrests will be made, probably before night.

The first fire was set in the sash and door factory belonging to I. M. Edgecomb, and was discovered shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday evening. The fire was extinguished, however, before much damage was done. The fire in the Edgecomb factory not only jeopardized the factory itself but the interests of nearly one hundred workmen who find employment there.

It was made evident shortly after the first fire that the incendiaries after setting fire to the Edgecomb mill, had gone to the Edgecomb lumber yard, a half mile away, for in less than half an hour after the first fire flames were discovered in the lumber yard. This fire, like the first, was quickly extinguished and the loss entailed was not heavy.

The incendiaries waited for their next trial until the town had quieted. At 4 o'clock in the morning the large general store of the Knoxville Trading company was discovered to be aflame The fire had progressed beyond the power of the firemen to overcome it, and the building was destroyed. The flames also destroyed the Watkins department store adjoining, and the store of Lugg & Co. The total loss is about $15,000.

Former Towandian Successful Teacher

According to the Bellingham, Washington, Sunday Herald, Sidney Bovingdon, who left Towanda for the Northwest about six years ago, is now located in that city, where he has a fine position as instructor in manual training in the public schools. Mr. Bovingdon has studied the profession of teaching the young people in the ways of mechanics for some time. In the interest of his work he has taken courses at various colleges, and is recognized as an authority on the subject. Several years ago Mr. Bovingdon attended the Bradley Polytechnic Institute at Peoria, Illinois, where he took a course in manual training. Later he attended Cornell and Pullman. When he went from Towanda to Seattle, about six years ago, for a short time he taught in the schools there. Then he was drawn into the real estate and building business for a year or two, and when he went back into the schools he specialized on manual training, and for two years was in the Seattle schools. Mr. Bovingdon was for a number of years a resident of Towanda, where he spent his childhood, and has many friends and acquaintances who will be glad to learn of his success.

Farewell Concert.

The Royal Moelwyn Male Choir will give a grand concert on their way home to Wales, in Towanda at the First M. E. church on Tuesday evening, April 19. One of the features of this concert will be the singing by the choir, "Crossing the plains," the competitive chorus at the Wilkes-Barre eisteddfod in May. It will be a treat to hear this chorus by one of the best male choirs of Wales. David Evans Mus. Bac., of Cardiff, said: "This choir stands in a class by itself. During their masterly rendering of 'Crossing the plains' I could feel the strange presence akin to the other world." They have won many prizes on this chorus. Another feature will be the singing of Miss Mary King Sarah, a soprano soloist. She is a cultured vocalist and sings with an ease and a grace that is gratifying. This will be the last chance to hear this grand chorus of singers at Towanda. Their visit next Tuesday evening is in the nature of a return engagement, they having visited Towanda some weeks ago giving two fine concerts to large and appreciative audiences. They will have an entirely new program this time and will sing again under the auspices of the A. D. Dye Bible class of the M. E. church.

Reported to Trustees.

Dr. Donald Guthrie surgeon-in-chief of the Robert Packer hospital rendered his report for the month of March to the trustees of that institution Monday afternoon. The report shows that there were 99 cases treated in the wards during that month, of them 66 being admitted during March and the remainder during February. There were 372 patients treated in the dispensary and there were 51 operations In spite of the fact that many of the operations were severe, being for goitre, the removal of gall stones, gangrenous and suppurative appendicitis, etc., there was not an operative death.

Our agency will prove that thirty-five years big sales and pleased users of the L. & M. Paint will save you dollars, because when painting with L. & M. you are using metal Zinc Oxide combined with white lead. Zinc Oxide is imperishable, and makes the L & M wear and cover like gold. The L. & M. Colors are therefore bright and lasting. You won't need to repaint for 10 to 15 years; besides L. & M. Paint costs less than any other, say about $1.30 per gallon. THEY CELEBRATED LEE'S SURRENDER.

Appomattox Day Observed by Watkins Post G. A. R.

Forty-five years ago Saturday, April 9, General Robert E. Lee surrendered the Confederate Army to General U. S. Grant at Appomattox, practically ending the great war which cost thousands of lives and millions of dollars, and the anniversary of that surrender is the occasion for general rejoicing among the "boys in blue" all over America, or wherever they may be located.

Watkins Post, No. 68, G. A. R., in their Post room Saturday evening observed the anniversary of Lee's surrender in fitting style. There was a large attendance of soldiers and their wives and they had a splendid time.

Excellent addresses were made by Rev. W. S. H. Heermans and Hon. George Moscrip, and Captain George W. Kilmer, who made many an army camp ring with songs in the days of the rebellion, sang again "We Are Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," "Marching Through Georgia" and other patriotic songs. Captain Kilmer was in the thickest of many a bloody fray during the war, and is always to be found in the thickest of Grand Army celebrations, and his singing is always a feature, as he experienced the hardships when the words of "Marching Through Georgia" and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground made the hearts of soldiers leap and bound with patriotism. Miss Lucy Sweet played the accompaniment for him.

NARROWLY ESCAPED SERIOUS TRAIN WRECK.

Engineman Stunned But Recovered in Time to Avoid Collision.

A peculiar experience happened to Lehigh Engineman Fred Daniel Wednesday night while at the throttle of his engine which was pulling passenger train No. 2 from Buffalo to Sayre.

The train was a short distance east of Maxwells and running at a high rate of speed, when something struck Mr. Daniels over the right eye, knocking him to the floor of the cab and rendering him unconscious. Presently his senses returned and his legs seemed paralyzed, but he managed to pull himself up by his hands, and looking ahead saw the red lights on the rear of a caboose. He managed to get hold of the throttle and brake valve lever and the train was brought to a standstill.

The fireman went to the cab and found Daniels in a semi-helpless condition, with the aid of the trainmen, they took him back to a coach, and a short distance from that place there was a train in a siding with Clinton Riegel as engineman. Mr. Riegel took charge of the engine pulling train No. 2, and brought it to Sayre.

When the train reached Sayre a rig was ordered and Mr. Daniels was taken to his home on South Elmer avenue. The red lights that Mr. Daniels saw ahead were on the caboose of a freight train just ahead of him and as No. 2 was making about sixty miles an hour, a disastrous wreck would have undoubtedly occurred had he not regained consciousness at that critical moment.

The cab of the engine seemed in good condition and it is not known what hit Mr. Daniels.

SPRING HILL FIRE.

L. S. Tyler's Home and Barn Have Close Call—Damage About $400.

Fire which originated in the smoke-house where hams were curing, set fire to the creamery and adjacent sheds and nearly caused the home and barn owned and occupied by L. S. Tyler on Spring Hill to go up in flames early last Sunday morning.

The fire was discovered at about 9 o'clock, and the telephone was immediately used to call the neighbors to assist in putting out the flames. The wind was blowing almost directly away from the house, which stood within about two rods of the burning creamery and smoke-house, and near the house was a well of water, and there was also water in the house. A neighbor stood at the well, with head and body covered with carpet, upon which water was continually thrown, and the two places furnished the water which the neighbors with pails used in controlling the fire and saving the house and barn. The home itself was on fire several times, but by heroic work on the part of all concerned, the buildings were saved, the flames only cleaning up the creamery, woodhouse in which a large pile of wood for Summer use had been stored, a smoke-house and shed. The loss is about $400 on the buildings and contents; on the contents of the buildings there is a small insurance. —Wyalusing Rocket.

Home From a Sojourn in Florida.

Brown as a berry and as handsome as a lord, Ed. Carter, Jr., reached the City of Promise last evening, coming from Indianola, Florida, where he spent ten weeks basking in the tropical sunshine. Mr. Carter enjoyed every minute of his stay in Florida, and that it did him a world of good is indicated by his healthy looks, but he was glad to get back to Towanda. Mrs. Carter will remain at Indianola for some time yet. She has gained the distinction of being the champion orange eater of that world- famous orange raising country, and like Mr. Carter has improved greatly in health.

Unique Window Display.

Lynch, the window trimmer, has arranged a doll in the South window, who by the aid of a telescope has no trouble in seeing the comet which is in the North window. If you don't believe it, take a look as you pass by. The display is unique and attracts a great deal of attention.

LARGE BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE FRIDAY NOON.

U. G. White of Laceyville, Suffered Heavy Loss in Fire.

Fire of unknown origin on Friday destroyed a large barn on the U. G. White farm near Laceyville, entailing a heavy loss.

The fire was discovered about 12:30, noon, and the first ones to the barn found it a mass of flames. The Laceyville fire department was called out, but could not save the building as the fire had too much of a start.

There were two barns on the White place, the one burned being the largest. It was used for storage, and was filled with hay, straw, and farming implements of all kinds. Nothing was saved.

The loss, which is very heavy, was only partly covered by insurance.

Society Note.

(Communicated)

We are pained to state that following her debut, arrayed most gorgeously in an Easter hat, trimmed elaborately with apricot, plum, cherry and other beautiful and sweet smelling blossoms, which Dame Nature in her munificent prodigality, has spread over the finest world we have ever seen; and just when she was making preparation to further decorate herself in incomparable dress of green flounced and furbelowed with dasies, violets and buttercups, Miss Spring, on the morning of the 7th inst., after taking an early morning bath was unfortunate enough to catch a sudden and severe cold, which we fear will defer her appearance for a number of days. But, as she is blessed with a good constitution and has always heretofore recovered from as severe attacks, and as she has the good attention of Old Doctor Time we have strong hopes for her ultimate recovery and fervent wishes that she suffer no relapse. KING.

Another Good Dairy Record.

The Jersey herd on the farm of A. P. Noble of Wells township, had during the month of March, twenty-four cows in milk, seventeen of which came fresh since September 1, 1909, three of the number were strippers, two were farrow and two were 2-year-olds. The amount of butter sold for the month's milk was 1,020 pounds, which was sold in the local markets in Elmira for $321.36. Besides this two families were supplied with milk and calves were fed new milk. About fifteen quarts were used daily. Also the table of Mr. Noble was supplied with butter not included in this record. The amount of grain fed for each pound of butter was five pounds. Mixed hay was fed in limited quantity; corn silage liberally. Average per cow $13.39 for butter sold.

Kisses Worth $1 Each.

One dollar apiece was fixed in police court as the price of kisses in the Scranton market. The quotation was given by Magistrate John T. Howe when Nathan Perlman, a clerk in a Penn avenue shoe store, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by Agnes Mosher, a comely girl who works in a candy store in the same block. The girl declared that Perlman bought some candy and when asked to settle, he asked her if she wouldn't rather accept kisses than money. Before she could reply Perlman circled her waist and planted two resounding smacks on her cheeks. When she remonstrated with him he refused to be squelched, and she finally notified police headquarters. A warrant was issued and it was served on Perlman. When he paid the $2 fine imposed by the magistrate, Perlman expressed satisfaction with the bargain.

Pathetic Case.

Mrs. Benson, the daughter of a well known and prominent family at Skinners Eddy, has been taken to the state hospital for the insane at Danville for treatment. She has been living in the West, but illness compelled her to return home, where she was tenderly cared for, but to no avail, and it has become necessary to take her to the asylum, where it is hoped that expert treatment will restore her reason and health.

POTTER COUNTY OIL POOL THEORY STRENGTHENED

New Strike in the Freakish Gains Field Stimulates Activity.

After a four-year interval, during which practically no effort to find the elusive Potter county Gaines field feeder was made, another producing well has materialized in that freak Pennsylvania oil and gas field, seven miles east of Galeton.

Particular importance is attached to this find, in that it explodes the theory that the Gaines field has been drained dry. It also arouses anew the other theory that somewhere in the basin there is a pool that, if tapped, would produce a Pithole volume.

The amount of money sunk in the Gaines field in the search for the supposed basin is estimated to be $100,000, and it looks now as though this latest strike on the Billings land will unloose the purse strings to another campaign of drilling.

Some of the old wells in the Gaines field are still oozing out a few barrels of oil every twenty-four hours. It is of a choice variety, and commands a premium price of 15 cents a barrel in the market. The product is all taken by the Tide Water Pipe Line Company which has a feed pipe running into the Gaines field from its pumping and tanking station at County Line, nine miles from Galeton.

The new producer is on a portion of the famous Billings land under lease by the Pennsylvania Land and Oil Development Company. At a depth of 1100 feet a new sand for the Gaines field was struck, and the next morning the drillers found the hole filled with oil. It was necessary to bail before work could be resumed. It is the purpose to send the drill down at least 100 feet further. If the volume is not increased, another well will be drilled nearby. The work of leasing other territory has already begun.

Postmaster—Editor—Papa.

George D. Genung, editor of the Waverly Sun, and postmaster of that village, is the proud father of a son, and here is how the Waverly Free Press announces the arrival which was copied by Mr. Genung's paper: "Without any authority from the Postmaster General, Postmaster George D. Genung announces the arrival of a new male. It came to his home today and unlike its father is an a. m., not a p. m., as it arrived in the morning. Letters to the postmaster should still be directed Waverly, N. Y. P. O. Not Waverly, N. Y., Pa., or Papa. Any delays in mails will be excused for a day or two on account of the arrival of this new one and the postmaster's extra duties as proprietor of a new Waverly Son."

He Will Have to Go Some.

Towanda is going to invite President Taft to come there this summer. We have already made arrangements to take him from here to Towanda in an automobile, when he comes up to spend a week at Lake Nephawin next August. If Towanda can arrange her old home week accordingly we can almost guarantee that Mr. Taft will favor them with a visit.—Canton Sentinel. President Bill insists on a straw ride from the City of Promise to New Albany and return, so it is difficult to figure out just how he is going to get around and visit all the good folks and many beauty spots in this big county of Bradford.

Saw Great Change in His Day.

Says the Williamsport Sun: "To have lived long enough to see all the fields of his farm turned into town lots, and the town itself built upon them, was the experience of William Ball, who died at Hughesville a day or two ago, at the age of 87 years. He was the oldest resident of that borough and one who was part of the town's history, for he saw it grow from a place of a few dwellings to the substantial borough of today, lending to its progress of his own good citizenship and to the community the integrity of an upright life and exemplary character."

Epworth Hall to Go.

Following the dismantling of the parsonage of the First Methodist Episcopal church, the old church edifice now known as "Epworth hall" which is located back of the handsome brick church building, will be torn down. Plans for the new parsonage have not been fully decided upon, but it is expected that in the basement of the residence will be ample room for church suppers, socials, etc., which have been held in Epworth hall. The new parsonage will be set back in line with the church building, and will be commodious, handsome and up to the minute.

Mr. Hoagland was arrested by Fish Warden Boyd Ostler for Sunday fishing and catching trout out of season and was given a hearing before Squire Porter of Fox. The justice found him guilty and sentenced him to thirty days in jail for non-payment of fine.—Laporte News Item.

CENSUS POINTS.

Director Durand Issues Statement Which is of Interest to All.

Director of the Census, E. Dana Durand, has issued the following which is of interest to every person in the United States:

The census begins April 15 and must be completed in 30 days.

The enumerators will wear a badge inscribed "United States Census, 1910."

The law requires every adult person to furnish the prescribed information, but also provides that it shall be treated confidentially, so that no injury can come to any person from answering the questions.

The Census Bureau, prior to April 15, will distribute to every farm owner and tenant in this state a blank or schedule containing the Census question relative to farm operations and equipment. This should be filled up, if possible, not later than the morning of April 15, but if anyone has been unable to fill it up by that time, he should do it as soon afterwards as he can.

People who do not speak English or who do not understand the schedule completely should get help from others if possible, in filling it up.

The President has issued a proclamation calling on all citizens to cooperate with the Census and assuring them that it has nothing to do with taxation, army or jury service, compulsory school attendance, regulation of immigration, or enforcement of any law, and that no one can be injured by answering the inquiries.

It is of the utmost importance that the farm census of this state be complete and correct.

Therefore, every farm owner and tenant should promptly, fully and accurately fill up the "Advance Farm Schedule" and carefully preserve it for the enumerator when he calls.

Valuable Timber Burned.

On Sunday evening fire from adjoining fields swept through the forests belonging to Mrs. Philip Karge, about two miles north of Laporte and destroyed a large amount of fine acid timber. Had it not rained the dwelling of the unfortunate lady would probably have been destroyed.

After Venders of "Bob Veal."

Says the Tunkhannock Republican: "A representative of the State Live Stock Association is going to take precautions to prevent the sale of bob veal in this section of the country. Hereafter a seal must be placed on every calf giving the date of birth so that the purchaser can readily tell whether or not the animal is of legal age."

WILL PREACH A SERIES OF ANSWER SERMONS.

Rev. D. D. Campbell, D. D., Will Reply to All Reasonable Questions.

Commencing next Sunday evening, Rev. D. D. Campbell, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will deliver a series of special sermons, during which he will answer all reasonable religious questions asked.

These "question and answer sermons" will take the place of the usual Sunday evening discourse. Questions person, or mailed to him, and he will make answer from his pulpit the following Sunday evening. It is not necessary to sign your name to the questions. Only reasonable questions will be considered.

Rev. Dr. Campbell last Sunday evening completed a series of special sermons under the auspices of the A. D. Dye Bible class. They were very interesting, and attracted large audiences. The "question and answer" sermons will no doubt prove just as attractive.

MILDRED MAN FOUND DEAD IN THE WOODS.

Samuel Northrup, Native of Northrup Hollow, Dies While Alone.

Samuel Northrup, aged about 58 years, was found dead in the woods near Mildred Friday morning. He was last seen alive Thursday night. His dead body was found by a Polish woman who stumbled over it in search of a stray cow.

The body was laying in the woods a short distance from the Hotel Heisman 'Squire Lowry, acting as coroner, summoned a jury and an inquest was held. No marks were found on the body, and a verdict was returned that deceased came to his death by causes unknown.

Samuel Northrup was born at Northrup Hollow, this county, and was a carpenter by trade. He had lived at Mildred for a number of years. It is believed that he was stricken with heart failure while going through the woods, death resulting. He is survived by his wife.

About That Fountain.

In a recent issue of The Review, some questions were asked in regard to the public drinking founting to be erected by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The public drinking fountain is an assured thing, providing there is no railroad wreck in its transportation, and you may rest assured that there will be drinking troughs for dogs, for that is part of the creed of the W. C. T. U.—kindness to animals. As to cooling the water, there are cooling devices for water which come with the fountains, but at considerable expense, and depends largely on the liberality of the people whether we can have that or not. The location is left to the town council to decide. However, with a little patience, in a few weeks, we hope to see as pretty a fountain near the court house, with four bubbling cups for people and two dog troughs, as you will find in Northern Pennsylvania. Beware of Dogs.

The serious injury inflicted by a dog which attacked Mrs. C. E. Bullock, was the third case of this kind to be reported in Towanda and vicinity within a few days. A little girl near Rome was severely injured, and the four years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George White of Fourth street, Towanda, was bitten through the foot, making the three cases. This should lead people to give dogs a wide berth.

GOOD WORK WITH SPLIT LOG DRAGS

Standing Stone Township Citizens Improve Highways.

There are many, very many doubters as to the value of the King split log road drag, but gradually they are being converted to the merits and usefulness of this simple and inexpensive road machine.

D. N. VanKuren of Rummerfield, probably the first man in Standing Stone township to build and use a split log drag, was in Towanda Thursday, and the statement he made of the value of the drag should convince any man in the country that it is all that has been claimed for it, and a little more if anything.

Mr. VanKuren had no faith in the drag, but one morning having nothing else to do he decided to build one and give it a trial. He was not long in building the drag which he fitted with wagon irons to add to the cutting feature of the contrivance. When completed he hitched his heavy team to the drag and started out on the road. He dragged the hill road from his place to the river, a distance of about a mile, and in spite of the fact that the road was quite dry and not at all in the condition it should be for working according to the rules laid down by King, the inventor, he leveled the ridges, filled the ruts and after about three hours work was ready to compare that stretch of road with any in the county.

"I stood on the drag," said Mr. VanKuren, and it cut in pretty well, making the horses pull in order to move, but the work that was done was truly marvelous. I did more and better work in three hours with that drag than could be done with a road machine and a force of men in three days."

Mr. VanKuren is of the opinion that a large drag, one that will require two teams to pull it will do better work than a light one which can be pulled with one team. He goes over the road occasionally with the drag and says that anyone that travels it will say that it is the best piece of hill road in the county.

F. H. Bennett, another resident of Standing Stone township, had no faith in the split log drag, but after he learned of Mr. VanKuren's success he built one and now he is ready to add his testimony in support of the claims made by Mr. VanKuren.

Mr. Bennett lived along a road which as a general thing was so rough that in driving over it with a load of milk cans they would be jarred off the wagon, or upset. He thought this section of highway would be an ideal place to test the drag, and he went to work upon it, driving over it with the drag when he had nothing else to do. Today the road is as smooth as a macadam highway, and resembles a plank road, and Mr. Bennett, like Mr. VanKuren, is an enthusiastic split log drag convert.

The best time to use a split log drag is after a shower when the ground is too wet for a farmer to do anything else. Then hitch to the drag and take a ride, as it were, out on the highway. Drive along the road until you meet your neighbor who is also riding on a split log drag, and then turn back. If all the farmers in the county will do this when they have nothing else to do, the roads in Bradford county will be the best in the State.

SAYRE JEWELRY STORE ROBBED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Ike Samuels Finds Store Open and Valuable Jewelry Gone.

The jewelry store of Isaac Samuels on Lockhart street in Sayre was burglarized Wednesday night. When Mr. Samuels arrived at his store Thursday morning he found the front door open, and an investigation disclosed the fact that thieves had been in the place.

Two gold watches and a number of valuable bracelets had been taken from one of the show windows, some small change which had been left in the cash register was taken, and the fountain pen case had been ransacked and the best fountain pens taken from it, besides other pieces of jewelry and watches from different parts of the store.

The thief or thieves had evidently been bold actors as the two watches which were taken from the large show window were in the front side of the window next to the glass, and in order to reach them, the person would have to climb into the window.

Bother at Wilkes-Barre.

Wilkes-Barre is having trouble over the lunch wagons. A short time ago a political muddle that threatened to engulf the Mayor and several Councilmen occurred as the result of a lunch wagon being moved into the Tenderloin section of that city, to be used as a telephone exchange. It is now the removal of a lunch wagon from the Tenderloin district to another part of the city without a permit that threatens to bring about an investigation by Councils.

HARD WORK PREVENTED SERIOUS FIRE AT BERNICE.

Flames Kept From Coal Breaker and Mine—Shanty Destroyed.

Hard work by the employees of Randall & Schaad, owners and operators of a coal mine near Bernice, prevented a serious conflagration about 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

The shipping shanty near the coal breaker took fire, and burned briskly. Several barrels of oil in the shanty made the fire dangerous, and for a time it seemed as if the breaker which was but a short distance away could not be saved.

The men employed about the mine and breaker worked like beavers, and after a desperate battle conquered the flames. The damage is considerable, as there was a large quantity of hardware and tools in the shanty in addition to the oil, all being destroyed.

President Taft is Not Coming.

E. D. Rundell, on Saturday received a letter from President Taft's private secretary to the effect that the President would not be able to visit Towanda during the old home celebration. Mr. Taft is not coming to Wilkes-Barre, as had been announced, and as he is making no out of Washington engagements at present, he was compelled to decline the kind invitation of the people of Towanda and Bradford county to join them in merry-making on June 23, 24 and 25. It is to be regretted that the President cannot come, but nevertheless, there will be a big glad time, and plenty of attractions in interest the crowds. Governor Stuart may be a guest of honor on one of the days.

Want New Station.

A numerously signed petition by the business men and citizens of Mildred and Bernice, has requested the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co., to consider the question of giving them better facilities in the shape of a new station. Many people assembled to see the launching, which was a glorious success. Then the ungrateful boat sank to the bottom of the Blue Juniata and the crew went home for a change of clothes.

STATE W.C.T.U PRESIDENT HERE

Mrs. Ella M. George Visits Bradford County Metropolis.

MADE IMPORTANT ADDRESSES

Mrs. Sylvia B. Norrish, State Recording Secretary Accompanied Mrs. George to Towanda — Interesting Meetings in the Universalist Church

For the second time in the history of the local branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which held meetings Thursday afternoon and evening in the Universalist church on Second street, two of the state officers, Mrs. Ella M. George, State President and Mrs. Sylvia B. Norris, State Recording secretary, were present and made addresses on different subjects pertaining to the great work which the Union has accomplished and which it is hoped to accomplish in the future.

The afternoon meeting was opened at 2:30 with a song service conducted by Mrs. S. C. Moore, in which all present joined. The song service was followed by scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. Mae E. Frey. Mrs. Norris, state recording secretary, was then introduced and in turn introduced State President, Mrs. Ella M. George who delivered an address.

Mrs. George is a speaker of ability and her powerful voice can be heard distinctly in all parts of the room. She drilled the members of the Union thoroughly on parliamentary rules, using as a guide a large chart giving a list of questions which are debatable and which are not debatable and how to proceed with all business brought before the society by resolution or motion. In the course of her remarks Mrs. George brought out the fact that the parliamentary rules used by the W. C. T. U. when used as they are diagramed on the chart, are held as an example by other organizations. The proceedure of a business meeting when governed by these rules can be carried out with more celerity than by any other set of rules.

Following the address by Mrs. George, Mrs. Norris gave a brief but pointed discussion, outlining the work to be done and earnestly urging the unions to increase their memberships as much as possible. The benediction was then pronounced, and the meeting was adjourned.

The Evening Session.

At the evening session Mrs. George addressed the members, giving an account of the great work which the unions have accomplished and outlining the work which they will undertake and hope to accomplish in the future. She told of many personal experiences which were very interesting.

New Albany, Rome, Powell and Liberty Corners were represented at both meetings, and more than ordinary interest was manifested by those in attendance.

Llewellyn went to Harrisburg and secured the state license under the act of June 21, 1897, which provides for a state wide license on the payment of $1,000. This is the first license.

GROWING ALFALFA.

Interesting Article From This Week's Canton Sentinel.

Says last week's Canton Sentinel: "The growth of alfalfa in the East is no longer an experiment, for it has been proven that alfalfa can be grown successfully on any soil in Pennsylvania or New York, which is dry enough to grow a good crop of corn, if the necessary conditions are complied with, namely: inoculation, manure and lime. Alfalfa growing depends on these three conditions, like a three legged stool; it might stand on any one or two, but just as a one or two legged milking stool would be a precarious seat, so success with alfalfa is doubtful unless these three conditions are complied with.

"Farmers are succeeding all over the Eastern states, and along the line of the Northern Central Railway there are sufficient successes to show that it will succeed along the entire line.

"At Bodines the station agent has a small patch of alfalfa on which he keeps a cow and horse all summer and also puts in enough hay to keep them both over winter.

"A little further up the line at Cowley is Glenside Farm, the home of the famous Kitty Clay herd of Durhams, the most famous in the United States and probably in the world; having 50 records above 8,000 pounds; 12 above 10,000 pounds, with the pride of the farm, the celebrated Rose of Glenside, which tops them all with a record of 19,075 pounds of milk in a year or 751 pounds of butter, or an average for the year per day of 49 pounds of milk and two pounds of butter. Mr. May, the proprietor, modestly says alfalfa did it, as he is satisfied that alfalfa should be given the credit for at least 5,000 pounds of the record. This famous cow had alfalfa every day and for the greater part of the summer ran on alfalfa pasture. Mr. May has about 25 acres of exceptionally good alfalfa, growing both on the open sandy soil of the valley and on the hard clay of the upland hill, which proves that all the Pennsylvania hills will grow this wonderful plant easily. He followed an alfalfa root down five feet through the hard clay with pick and shovel, but got discouraged and cut it off, believing it was on its way to China.

"Mr. May uses two tons of quick lime an acre and never misses a seeding. In one small patch where he put a manure spreader load of ashes you can follow the alfalfa across the field like a green ribbon with no sorrel, while on both sides the sorrel is thick with no alfalfa.

"Case & Sons of Canandaigua, the well known live stock dealers, who own 1,100 acres of land, are putting it into alfalfa as fast as they can, and report that the soil of Ontario county is peculiarly adapted to its growth.

"At Horseheads, Mr. Eisenhart, the popular brick maker, is succeeding in growing alfalfa hay for his horses on his hard brick clay fields. All kinds of soil appear to be the same to the plant.

"If the farmer applies inoculated soil, manure and lime he will have luxuriant alfalfa, full hay barns in the dryest year and fat cattle and hogs and deep milking cows."

Three Legged Cow Killed.

Says the Greene's Landing correspondent of the Athens Gazette: "Three Legs" one of the greatest freaks that was ever born, raised and owned in this section of Pennsylvania was killed a short time ago. Owing to being so heavy and getting rather old, it was thought best to butcher her. This cow was born the property of John Watkins of this place, nine years ago last month and has always remained in his possession. Seven years ago last fall she was on exhibition at the Elmira, Watkins and Dundee, N. Y., fairs where she was viewed by thousands of people and examined by many. A good many people have come a distance to see this great freak at Mr. Watkins' farm. When his cow had reached the required age she gave a good mess of fine rich milk, mostly cream. Several calves were also raised from her. A few years ago when Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show was in Sayre, the manager of this show, hearing of the above mentioned freak cow, paid Mr. Watkins a visit, examined the cow and finally offered him a neat sum that he might take her with him as one of the features of his side show, but Mr. Watkins refused, saying, that he preferred to keep her and when possible exhibit her at the nearby fairs."

Political War in the Fifteenth.

Says the Williamsport Sun: "The war between the Republican factions in the Fifteenth congressional district is likely to be waged more bitterly than ever until the June primaries are held as a result of the formal announcement of the candidacy of Hon. Horace B. Parker of Wellsboro, who is regarded as an anti-Deemer candidate, and his entrance into the field of conflict looked upon as a direct challenge to Mr. Deemer's favorite, Clarence L. Peaslee of Williamsport."

TRUXTON KING

A Story of ....Graustark

Never had Truxton looked upon a creature who so thoroughly vindicated the lifelong reliance he had put in the description of witches given by the fairy tale tellers of his earliest youth. She had the traditional hook nose and peaked chin, the glittering eyes, the thousand wrinkles and the toothless gums. He looked about for the raven and the cat, but if she had them they were not in evidence. At a rough guess he calculated her age at 100 years.

"Grewsome lady, isn't she?" whispered King.

"I shall dream of her for months," whispered the lady in gray, shuddering.

"Would you mind telling me how I am to address you?" whispered King. They were leaning against the mud plastered wall near the little window side by side. "You see, I'm a stranger in a strange land."

"You must not speak while she is gazing into the crystal," she warned after a quick, searching glance at his face.

Although it was broad daylight, the low, stuffy room would have been pitch dark had it not been for the flickering candles on the table beside the bent gray head of the mumbling fortune teller, whose bony fingers twitched over and about her crystal globe like wiggling serpents' tails. The window gave little or no light, and the door was closed, her grinning grandson leaning against it limply.

The witch began by reading the fortune of John Tullis, who had been pushed forward by the wide eyed prince. In a cackling monotone she rambled through a supposititious history of his past, for the chief part so unintelligible that even he could not gainsay the statements. Later she bent her piercing eyes upon the prince and refused to read his future, shrilly asserting that she had not the courage to tell what might befall the little ruler, all the while muttering something about the two little princes who had died in a tower ages and ages ago. Seeing that the boy was frightened, Tullis withdrew him to the background. The Countess Marlanx came next. She was smiling derisively.

"You have returned from some one whom you hate," began the witch. "He is your husband. You will marry again. There is a fair haired man in love with you. You are in love with him. I can see trouble"—

But the countess deliberately turned away from the table, her cheeks flaming with the consciousness that a smile had swept the circle behind her graceful back.

"Ridiculous!" she said and avoided John Tullis' gaze. "I don't care to hear any more. Come, baron! You are next."

Truxton King, subdued and troubled in his mind, found himself studying his surroundings and the people who went so far to make them interesting. His eye had fallen upon a crack in the door that led to the kitchen, although he had no means of knowing that it was a kitchen. To his amazement, a gleaming eye was looking out upon the room from beyond this narrow crack. He looked long and found that he was not mistaken. There was an eye glued close to the opposite side of the rickety door, and its gaze was directed to the Countess Marlanx.

Without pausing to consider the result of his action, he sprang across the room, shouting as he did so that there was a man behind the door. Grasping the latch, he threw the door wide open, the others in the room looking at him as if he were suddenly crazed.

There was instant commotion, with cries and exclamations from all. Quick as the others were, the old woman was at his side before them, snarling with rage. Her talonlike fingers sunk into his arm, and her gaze went darting about the room in a most convincing way.

Baron Dangloss was convinced that the young man had seen the eye. Without compunction he began a search of the room, the old woman looking on with a grin of glee.

"Search! Search!" she croaked. "It was the spirit eye! It is looking at you now, my fine baron! It finds you, yet cannot be found. No, no! Oh, you fools! Get out! Get out! All of you! Prince or no prince, I fear you not, nor all your armies. This is my home, my castle! Go! Go!"

"There was a man here, old woman," said the baron coolly. "Where is the man?"

She laughed aloud, a horrid sound. The prince clutched Tullis by the leg in terror.

"There is no window, no trapdoor, no skylight," remarked the baron, puzzled. "Nothing but the stovepipe, six inches in diameter. A man couldn't crawl out through that, I'm sure. Mr. King, we've come upon a real mystery—the eye without a visible body."

Suddenly the old woman stepped into the middle of the room and began to wave her hands in a mysterious manner over an empty pot that stood on the floor in front of the stove. Then before their startled eyes a thin film of smoke began to rise from the empty pot. It grew in volume until the room was quite dense with it. Even more quickly than it began it disappeared, drawn apparently by some supernatural agency into the draft of the stove and out through the rickety chimney pipe.

A deafening crash as of many guns came to their ears from the outside. With one accord the entire party rushed to the outer door, a wild laugh from the hag pursuing them.

"There!" she screamed. "There goes all there was of him! And so shall we all go some day. Fire and smoke!"

Just outside the door stood Lieutenant Saffo of the guard.

"Good Lord!" shouted Tullis. "What is the matter? What has happened?"

"The storm, sir," said Saffo. "It is coming down the valley like the wind." A great crash of thunder burst overhead, and lightning darted through the black, swirling skies.

CHAPTER VIII.

LOOKING FOR AN EYE.

THE witch was haranguing her huddled audience, cursing the soldiers, laughing gleefully in the faces of her stately, scornful guests, greatly to the irritation of Baron Dangloss, toward whom she showed an especial attention.

Tullis was holding the prince in his arms. Colonel Quinnox stood before them, keeping the babbling, leering beldame from thrusting her face close to that of the terrified boy. The Countess Marlanx, pale and rigid, her wondrous eyes glowing with excitement, stood behind John Tullis.

With incredible swiftness the storm passed. Almost at its height there came a cessation of the roaring tempest, the downpour was checked, the thunder died away and the lightning trickled off into faint flashes. The sky cleared as if by magic. The exhibition, if you please, was over!

"It is the most amazing thing I've ever seen," Dangloss said over and over again.

The Countess Marlanx was trembling violently. Tullis, observing this, tried to laugh away her nervousness.

"Mere coincidence; that's all," he said. "You can't believe she brought about this storm?"

"It isn't that," she said in a low voice. "I feel as if a grave personal danger had just passed me by. Not danger for the rest of you, but for me alone. That is the sensation I have—the feeling of one who has stepped back from the brink of an abyss just in time to avoid being pushed over. I can't make you understand. See! I am trembling."

"Nerves, my dear countess—shadows! You'll be over it as soon as we are outside."

Ten minutes later the cavalcade started down the rain swept road toward the city, dry blankets having been placed across the saddles occupied by the ladies and the prince. The witch stood in her doorway, laughing gleefully, inviting them to come often.

"Come again, your highness!" she croaked sarcastically.

"The next time I come it will be with a torch to burn you alive!" shouted back Dangloss. To Tullis he added: "Gad, sir, they did well to burn witches in your town of Salem. You cleared the country of them—the pests!"

Down through the lowering shades rode the prince's party swiftly, even gayly by virtue of relaxation from the strain of a weird half hour. No one revealed the slightest sign of apprehension arising from the mysterious demonstration in which nature had taken a hand.

Truxton King, for reasons best known to himself, soon relapsed into a thoughtful, contemplative silence. Between us, he was sorely vexed and disappointed. When the gallant start was made from the glen of "dead men's bones" he found that he was to be cast utterly aside, quite completely ignored by the fair Loraine. She rode off with young Count Vos Engo without so much as a friendly wave of the hand to him.

Vos Engo, being an officer in the royal guard, rode ahead by order of Colonel Quinnox. Truxton, therefore, had her back in view—at rather a vexing distance, too—for mile after mile of the ride to the city. He galloped along beside the baron, a prey to gloomy considerations. What was the use? He had no chance to win her. That was for story books and plays. She belonged to another world far above his.

The baron's dry, insinuating voice broke in upon the young man's thoughts. "I think it's pretty well understood that she's going to marry him." The little old minister had been reading King's thoughts; he had the satisfaction of seeing his victim start

HONESDALE GLASS CUTTERS WAGES PUBLISHED BY FIRM

People Are Agog Over Action of Employers Who "Show Up."

There is great excitement among the glass cutters at Honesdale regarding an article published in one of the papers Wednesday relative to the poor wages claimed to have been paid by factories. The statement is a sworn affidavit made by the Herbeck-Demer company one of the firms which has a strike on and gives the names of the different workmen, date of payment of wages and the amount received by each. The men are divided into classes from one to four and the wages, which are given for two weeks each, average from $38 down to $12. The Herbeck-Demer company make the following statement:

"That every employe has the right to join any organization that he cares to, but that he should not be compelled to join by arbitrary or other repulsive methods.

"That the employer can only consider ability on the part of the applicant.

"That goods which are sold by the dozen cannot be produced at a day-wage, as a day-wage would make it impossible to determine the true cost if an article. A day-wage would also place the industrious and ambitious employe on the same level with the drone.

"That any demands for higher wages should be made when the sample lines are prepared and that no disturbances should be created at the very opening of the season, and when the salesmen are on the point of starting out on their trips or have left already."

The company also state that they never reduce the price after it is once established. It also says that some of their men have asked the foreman for extra pay envelopes that they might change the original amount of their pay envelope. In one case a young man had reduced his pay envelope more than fifty per cent., says the company.

STRAIGHTENING ROADS IN WINDHAM TOWNSHIP.

Supervisors Are Preparing For Towanda to Nichols Highway.

The supervisors of Windham township are preparing for the Towanda to Nichols State road, which is almost a certainty. The stretch from Towanda to Wysox will soon be completed and then the people of Eastern Bradford are in hopes that work will be commenced and the State road continued on through to the State line at Nichols, where New York state will take it up and carry it on for several miles.

On Saturday the supervisors of Windham township changed the road across the Johnson farm, thereby shortening and straightening the high way considerably. This is the first of several changes to be made in the roads in Windham township which will eliminate grades and shorten the distances all of which will be of great value when the highway is improved by State aid.

"From Towanda to Nichols via improved road," is the cry of the people of Eastern Bradford and they are going about it in the right manner to secure results.

Vargason Pleads Guilty.

Joseph Vargason, the young man arrested on the charge of the larceny of a rifle from Charles Yanofsky, Monday before 'Squire Meredith pleaded guilty to the charge and will be sentenced later. County Detective McCracken found on Vargason a shirt, pair of suspenders, stockings and a handkerchief which have been identified as property taken from Yanofsky's barn which was burglarized Friday night. Vargason has been charged with this robbery and will have a hearing later.

Horse Sense.

Henry Baker, Jr., of Clymer, moved to Wellsboro Rural Route No. 7 last Fall. His brood mare was never contented with the change, and last week she took her colt and started out for the old homestead, some twenty miles distant. Suspicioning that she was suffering with nostalgia, Baker took a halter and the New York Central Railway for Sabinsville, and there he found the horse munching Clymer hay in the old barn, apparently glad to get back to former scenes.

Pennsylania Road Building.

Pennsylania will add between 70 and 80 miles of improved highway this year to the roads built under the supervisilon of the State Highway Department. The State has built 626 miles of road since the creation of a Highway Department the bulk of the work having been done in the last two years. The State has about $675,000 to spend on construction this year. The average cost is between $8,500 and $9,000 a mile.

Talented Violinist.

Miss Armstrong of Fairhaven, N. J., who is the guest of Mrs. Charles Reed, played violin solos, accompaniment, and obligato during the morning and evening services at the Presbyterian church Sunday. Miss Armstrong is one of the most talented violinists ever heard in Towanda, and her playing greatly pleased large congregations.

Sparrow Used Awning for Toboggan.

A Williamsport sparrow, it is told attempted to light on an awning and accidentally slid down to the edge. It liked the sensation so well, the papers say, that it flew back to the upper edge and for nine successive times slid down over the canvas before it had enough coasting and flew away.

Wellsboro Auto Regulations.

Some of the Tioga county-seaters who have got it in for people who are prosperous enough to own automobiles have now a good chance to get even. Wellsboro has offered a reward of $25 for conviction of any person violating any law or ordinance relating to the operating of autos in Wellsboro, and $5 for a second conviction of any party for the same offense.

Divorce Decreed.

A divorce has been decreed in the case of George Lee Barrett vs. Ruth L. Barrett, both of Troy, on the grounds of adultery.

SAYRE PEOPLE ARE COMPLAINING.

Shop Town is Alive With Tramps There is a Remedy.

The people of Sayre, and Athens also, are complaining about the tramps who are visiting those places these days according to the Athens News. Waverly Free Press and Sayre Times Record.

There have been no end of petty robberies, and begging is the order of the day, yet there are no arrests. William Carey, a justice of the peace at Sayre, and the correspondent of the Waverly Free Press has this to say about the tramp nuisance:

"It is admitted on all sides that the tramp question is a most serious one and that steps must be taken to rid Sayre of their presence. Some are of the opinion that a mistake is made in allowing them to sleep in the town hall at night. It is contended that as long as the authorities provide them with shelter at night and soft-hearted women feed them during the day they will continue to make this section their headquarters.

"There is absolutely no use of sending tramps to the county jail. Once down there they are taken before Judge Fanning and released. County Treasurer F. N. Moore has employed a force of lawyers to interview every tramp sent to the jail from Sayre. These legal luminaries then get the tramps into court on one legal technicality and another and the county judge releases them."

The fact of the matter is the authorities of Sayre have not taken the right course in the tramp question, for if they had, according to the Towanda attorneys who have conducted the cases, there would have been no releases from jail. The law is very plain on vagrancy, also on illegal train riding, and Sayre people cannot expect the Court to keep men in jail who are sentenced for vagrancy when there is not sufficient evidence to show they are guilty of the offense.

Some fifteen or twenty men have been released from the county jail on habeas corpus proceedings, in each case there was no evidence to show why they should be incarcerated as vagrants. The "mere technicalities" complained of was a short way to get the matter before the Court.

There is a vast difference in a man going about the streets of Athens, Sayre or South Waverly, begging from door to door and being arrested on the charge of vagrancy and sentenced after a fair hearing during which evidence is introduced, and a man brought in from the railroad yard, or the tramp rendevezous, stood up before a justice and then sentenced to 30, 40 or 60 days in jail.

If there are so many tramps in the Northern end of the county, and they are so very fond of begging as claimed, it seems as if it would be an easy matter to bring before the justice enough good witnesses to convict the party of begging, which means a conviction of vagrancy and a legitimate jail sentence.

But there is no reason or excuse for a man being arrested and when arraigned given a jail sentence for vagrancy when there is no evidence to substantiate the charge. More than one man sent to the county jail from Sayre has declared that he was sentenced for vagrancy when he was not guilty of the offense, and did not have a fair hearing, nor was there any evidence introduced to show that he was a vagrant under the meaning of the act of assembly.

Sayre is a big town, and is entitled to protection from tramps and should have it. It is up to the officers of that place as well as Athens and South Waverly to hustle around and get some of the "soft hearted" housewives to come before the justice and say "that is the man who begged at my door." It should be no trouble to relieve the tramp nuisance in the upper end of the county if the proceedure is according to law, and when this is done they will remain in jail for the full length of their sentence.

And when a man is pulled from a freight train, simply an illegal train rider he should be sentenced as such, and not as a vagrant. If Sayre people are not satisfied when a tramp is released from the county jail on a "mere technicality," they should inquire into the matter as there are reasons for all things.

Brewery Goes Out of Business.

After a continuous operation of fifty-nine years, the Irving Cliff Brewery in Wayne county discontinued the making of beer, porter and ale. The cause of the shutting down of this plant is due to the large number of New York State towns along the Delaware river going dry last Fall. To this locality one-half the production of the brewery had been sold, consequently the discontinuance of these sales meant the disbandment of this old liquid producer. On March 14,, when the license was transferred from a brewery to a wholesale place, it meant the abandonment of Wayne counties, Pike and Susquehanna, have counties, Pike and Susquehanna, have no breweries. The Irving Cliff brewery was started in 1851 by Burkhardt & Kessler and in 1897 became merged into the Pennsylvania Central Brewing Co.

Sullivan County Boy Honored.

Harry E. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Campbell of Shunk, Sullivan county, has been elected captain of the Bucknell Academy baseball team this year. He played ball with the Towanda high school team in 1906 and 1907, and is making good with Bucknell. His many friends expect to see him in the big leagues some day.

New Mercantile Firm.

Edward Brennan, who has been conducting a grocery store at the corner of Kingsbury avenue and William street, has formed a partnership with J. O. Baker, and the firm will be known as Brennan & Baker. Both are experienced in the mercantile business, and no doubt will enjoy a share of the patronage of the people of that section of Towanda.

UNFORGIVEN ELOPERS DEPART FROM SAYRE.

He Has No Money and They Will Not Be Received By Her Mother.

Unforgiven by her mother a pretty young woman, accompanied by an intelligent appearing young man departed from Sayre for WilkesBarre yesterday morning and surrounding them there is much mystery.

The man arrived here last Friday evening and registered at a hotel. The following noon the woman arrived here on the Auburn branch train. She at once asked for a man who was attired in blue who had been on the watch for her. Soon afterwards they met in the Desmond street park. Fond caresses were exchanged and that night they spent at the hotel. He registered from Buffalo but earlier in the evening he telephoned to Ithaca for money. It was sent to him by telegraph. Yesterday she telephoned to her mother saying she had eloped with the man of her choice. She was informed she had chosen her own path in life and must follow it. She wept for a time and spent much of the day at the station. Last night they spent at the hotel and this morning left for Wilkes-Barre. Before departing she confided in a person who had befriended her that they were going to Wilkes-Barre to spend their honeymoon at the home of one of her uncles, but that her husband had very little money and they had been forbidden to return to her own home. She also gave the name of the man she called her husband and it is different from the one he registered.—Sayre Times-Record.

MR. GORSLINE GOES AFTER MR. MAYNARD.

Wysox Horseman is Very Anxious For a Match in Stallions.

In responsse to P. E. Maynard's acceptance to his challenge to compare stallions with any one in Bradford county, J. B. Gorsline, owner of Guy Dillon visited Athens yesterday for the purpose of making a match with Mr. Maynard, but the attorney-horseman was away, and Mr. Gorsline returned home without accomplishing his mission.

Mr. Gorseline is very desirous of matching Guy Dillon against any stallion in the county, and is particularly desirous of competing with Mr. Maynard. In order to make satisfactory arrangements, Mr. Gorsline requests Mr. Maynard to meet him at The Review office in Towanda on Saturday of this week at 1 p. m., or any time during the day before 3 p. m., at which time horses shall be named, terms decided upon and forfeit posted.

Mr. Gorsline's challenge to match Guy Dillon against any stallion in the county still holds good.

Anthrax Attacks Tannery Workers.

A news dispatch from Galeton says: "The death in the Williamsport hospital, a few days ago, of Joseph Bello, from the dreaded disease anthrax, and the contracting of the disease by another tannery employe, here, and who has been taken to Falls Creek, near Dubois, for treatment, has created a feeling of fear among the employes of the big tannery here. Anthrax among the tannery men is somewhat like rattlesnake bites are feared by woodsman, and indeed the malady is quite as deadly as the serpent's bite. It is believed that a recent shipment of hides from Brazil is responsible for the outbreak, against the spread of which the company and the company's physician are using the most stringent means. No man with an abrasion on his body, or who may be ailing from any cause, is permitted to work a single hour in the department where the hides are handled in their raw state."

He was placed in the county jail to await a hearing before 'Squire Meredith.

Will Begin Sermons Next Sunday.

Rev. D. D. Campbell, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, who has been ill for a number of days, has sufficiently recovered to be out, and on next Sunday evening expects to preach the first of a series of question and answer sermons. He was to have preached the first of these sermons last Sunday evening, but illness prevented.

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said:

"'I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was smell and smoke from an oil stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give hers up for five times its cost.'"

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.

Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more coming to the dinner table so tired out that you can't eat. Just light a Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from an intense blue flame shoots up to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven. But the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no smell, no outside heat, no drudgery in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

FATHER GAVE SON RIFLE AND IS SUED FOR $20,000.

Boy Shoots Companion's Eye Out and Father is Asked to Settle.

Contending that the defendant by his negligence in giving his son, aged nine years, a flobert target gun was responsible for the injuries sustained by the plaintiff, Edward Shovlin, Jr., by his father, Edward Shovlin, Sr., at Wilkes-Barre Thursday began an action in trespass against James Walker of Warrior Run, Luzerne county, for $20,000. The case is rather unusual and no doubt will create much interest at the trial.

Edward Shovlin, Jr., is a boy aged ten years. He was a companion of Philip Walker son of the defendant, and the pair went out on the highway on Dec. 4, last to test their ability in using the new gun which the little Walker boy's father had given him. In some manner the gun was discharged and the bullet, a 22 calibre short, struck Shoveiin in the eye. He lost the sight of the member and the strain has greatly impared the other eye.

The plaintiffs contend that the defendant was responsible for the accident because he provided a youngster of such tender years with so dangerous a weapon. The little Shovelin asks $15,000 for his injuries and the father claims $5,000 by reason of having his son incapitated.

The Audacity of Monroeton.

The audacity of Monroeton, basballically speaking, is something scandalous to say the least in a quiet and modest way. It seems anything but true, but nevertheless Wilbur DuBois, Lanny Marcy, Ray Bullock, Dan Miller, Denmark, William Dunfee, and some the other boys have held a consultation which resulted in them becoming imbued with the idea that they can play baseball, and play it well enough to defeat the phamous All-Stars of Towanda. Think of it. After a long seige of Spring training at South Branch and on South Main street the All-Stars must be challenged by Monroeton which can only secure a reputation by having one made to measure by the Loetzer Manufacturing company. H. M. Turner has been elected captain and manager of the rejuvenated All-Stars and it is up to him to say how, when and where Monroeton shall get a going over.

Corn Growing Contest.

The Pennsylvania Livestock Breeders' Association announces prizes for its Corn-Growing Competition this year. Valuable cups and cash prizes are awarded to the farmers who produce the best yield. Yield counts 70 points, economy of production 20 points, sample of corn 5 points, and report 5 points. Blanks for report are furnished by the Association. No entrance or other fees. One acre must be planted and it may be a part of a field of corn. The men who win these prizes will have a mighty good market for their crop as farmers are all looking for the corn that yields the most. Last year's first prize went to Crawford County, in the northwestern part of the state. For particulars apply to E. S. Bayard, Secy.,

Yanofsky's Barn Burglarized.

Charles Yanofsky's barn in the alley near the M. E. church was broken into Friday night or early Saturday morning, and several articles of value taken. Mr. Yanofsky uses the barn for storage purposes in connection with his second hand business, and it was a good place for a sneak thief to operate. A large valice belonging to a pack peddler which was inthe barn was broken open and rifled, towels, napkins, hosiery, etc., being taken.

Slap at Mother-in-Law.

A man's wife is not compelled to live with her mother-in-law if she does not want to, ruled Judge Garman at Wilkes-Barre Wednesday in refusing to grant a divorce to Benjamin R. Benscoter, who charged his wife with desertion. The court said: "There is no obligation on the part of the wife to live with her husband's parents and to be in subjection to a mother-in-law who thinks she ought to have the house and who expects to manage it as long as she lives. The husband is in duty bound to provide for his wife a separate home; to furnish it in a manner suitable to his station in life. He is morally bound to leave his father and cleave unto his wife."
